Reed Charges Intimidation

Of Interstate Commerce Commission In Lake Cargo Coal Rate Case by Political Influences In Pennsylvania and White House.

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP).—Intimidation of certain members of the Interstate Commerce Commission in the lake cargo coal rate case by a political influence emanating from Pennsylvania and running into the White House itself was charged today in the Senate by Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri.

Asserting that the commission had reversed itself in this case so as to favor the coal operators of Pennsylvania over those in West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia, Senator Reed declared it had rendered a decision "not only revolutionary and unjust," but "probably the most arbitrary yet handed down by a federal board or tribunal."

Speaking on the eve of his departure on a stumping tour which is to take him across the continent, the Missouri Democrat said it was "hard to escape the conclusion that the Interstate Commerce Commission reversed itself because it sat under the shadow of the suspended sword of Pennsylvania," wielded by Senator Reed, of that state, who, the Missourian said, "possessed the advantage of long experience and intimate association with the secretary of the treasury."

Recalling that only two years ago the commission had refused the petition of the Pennsylvania coal operators for a higher differential in rates on coal to the lake ports and the northwest, the Missouri senator said then it was that the "political battalion" was called into action, with the Pennsylvania Reed boldly declaring that Pennsylvania should have the representation on the commission which would correct the conditions of which the Pennsylvania operators complained.

"Having lost the case upon its merits in the court," he said, "it was now determined to change the personnel of the court."

The Missourian reminded the Senate that his Pennsylvania cousin had opposed the nomination of Thomas F. Woodlock, of New York, to the commission until he had had assurance from the White House that Pennsylvania would be considered in the next appointment.

"Time ran on," the speaker continued, "but it did not run very long until the articles of the treaty of peace between the Senator from Pennsylvania and the President were put into force.

"The term of Commissioner Cox, one of the commissioners who had concurred in the majority opinion (against the Pennsylvania operators) was about to expire.

"He had been a good commissioner. So far as I know neither his ability nor fidelity had ever been questioned.

"But Pennsylvania had to be taken care of."

The Missourian then told of the appointment of Cyrus E. Woods, of Pennsylvania, to succeed Cox, and of the rejection of his nomination by the Senate, because he had been connected with the Pennsylvania coal industry, both as attorney and stockholder.

"Under the circumstances, it would not have been wise to have just then and there appointed another man like Wood," Reed continued, "so Mr. Brainerd was appointed to fill the seat made vacant by Cox. And be it said to Brainerd's credit, he did not undertake to participate in the decision or rehearing.

"But, nevertheless, the removal of Cox has removed one of the obstacles to the reversal of the case.

"The term of Commissioner Esch was about to expire.

"His emoluments and honors were, of course, dependent upon reappointment.

"He must have known of the threat of Senator Reed that Pennsylvania proposed to be represented.

"He had doubtless observed that the Senator from Pennsylvania had climbed to the very apex of political power and influence.

"I doubt not that the commissioner often viewed with disconsolate eyes Cox's scalp already suspended from the pole of the Reed tepee. He naturally desired to avoid a similar fate.

"Cox had been removed. And upon rehearing, although the case had been fully tried in the first instance and there had been no change in conditions, Esch and Aitchison changed their votes and rendered a decision fixing the differential at the point demanded by the Pennsylvania interests."

REPLACE ACT CLOSED BY DEATH OF EDDIE FOY.

Kansas City, Feb. 17 (AP).—Actors and theatre officials associated with Eddie Foy during the closing years of nearly a half century on the stage, united here last night to replace the act closed by his death and to honor the veteran comedian at a service conducted by the Elks Lodge.

The program in which he starred at the Orpheum Theatre here until his death yesterday following a heart attack continued. The Elks Lodge, of which he was a member, held a brief ceremony. The small chapel where his body lay in state during the afternoon was filled with friends of the stage.

Mrs. Foy, who had been under the care of a nurse, was unable to attend the services. However, she left with the funeral party for New Rochelle, N. Y., the Foy home. Six of the seven Foy children were to join the party at Chicago.

17 Dogs in Pound At Forsyth Park

Dog Catchers Added Six Unmuzzled Dogs to Collection on Thursday and Were Again Busy Today—Why One Little Girl Cried.

The two official dog catchers of the city on Thursday added six more unmuzzled dogs to the city's collection impounded at Forsyth Park, bringing the total number that day to seventeen dogs of assorted sizes and ages. This morning the dog catchers resumed their labors.

The dogs in the pound at Forsyth Park attract large delegations of visitors who look the animals over. Thursday the caretaker noticed one little girl standing close to the cage peering in at the dogs. Big tears were streaming down her face.

"What's the trouble?" asked the caretaker.

"That's my grandmother's dog," replied the little girl as she pointed with a trembling finger to one of the imprisoned dogs.

"Why don't your grandmother redeem the animal then?" asked the caretaker.

"She ain't got no money," replied the girl with tears in her voice.

The majority of the dogs in the pound have no license tags.

Discharge Jury In Hill Trial

Ottawa, Ill., Feb. 17 (AP).—The jury which for four days deliberated the fate of Harry Hill, charged with killing his mother, was discharged today after it reported a disagreement.

Twice before the jurors had reported they were unable to agree upon a verdict, but each time were sent back by Judge Joe A. Davis for further deliberation. They had been out approximately seventy hours. The men received the case Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Judge Davis himself called the court to order as the jury was brought in.

Addressing the foreman, Judge Davis asked if a verdict had been reached. He received a negative reply, and also a negative to the question as to whether there could be an agreement.

"All I can say is that I am sorry," said the judge, adding his thanks to the jurors.

The final vote of the jury was 9 to 3 for conviction, with a penitentiary sentence of 14 years the minimum, it was revealed after the jury had been discharged.

State's Attorney Hanson stated he would ask that a new trial date be set immediately after the trial of Hiram Reed, charged with causing the injury to Iola Bradford, young school teacher, by setting off a charge of dynamite in the stove of the school in which she taught. It is set for February 24.

Hill was arrested in Seattle September 3, after his mother's body had been discovered in a shallow grave in the basement of her home at Streator August 22.

Two Men Drown In Mystic River

Chelsea, Mass., Feb. 17 (AP).—Two men were drowned in the Mystic river today when a truck loaded with granite blocks crashed through the guard rail of a drawbridge between this city and Charlestown.

The bodies were recovered when the truck was raised by a navy tug. One was identified as that of Charles Leavitt, 24, of North Weymouth, the driver. The other was believed to be that of a Quincy man.

GIRL DIES AFTER BEING RESCUED FROM LAKE

Yorktown Heights, N. Y., Feb. 17 (AP).—Lulu Austin, 18, of Peekskill, N. Y., is dead after having been rescued from Croton Lake by a man who left a sick bed in answer to calls for assistance.

Miss Austin, who was skating last night, struck a soft spot in the ice and fell through. Calls by her girl companion were heard by Samuel Tompkins, sick in bed at his home on the shore. Plunging into the icy water, Tompkins brought the girl to shore, but she died before medical assistance arrived. Tompkins fainted after his exertion, but while he is back in bed his condition is not considered serious.

FINDS WIFE DEAD AFTER DRINKING WITH STRANGER

Newark, N. J., Feb. 17 (AP).—Mrs. Rose Mac, 40, was found dead in her bed today by her husband Joseph, who told police he remembered nothing after drinking wine in his home last night with a stranger who helped him carry kindling wood in.

The only indications of foul play were lacerations on the dead woman's lips. Several lengths of blood-stained cord were found beside the bed by police, and bruises were on the back of Mrs. Mac's head.

Clarence Rowland Dropped.

Chicago, Feb. 17 (AP).—President Barnard of the American League revealed today that Clarence Rowland, one-time manager of the Chicago White Sox, and umpire for several years, has been dropped. His name was not included in the list of twelve umpires named for the 1928 season.

Jean LaMar in Limelight Again

Advertises Whiteman's Orchestra and Stage and Screen Stars to Appear at Military Ball in Armory at Albany—They Fail to Appear—LaMar Disappears.

Jean LaMar, dance promoter, stirred up considerable excitement in Albany on Wednesday evening when Whiteman's orchestra and famous stage and screen stars failed to make a personal appearance at the military ball he was promoting in the state armory in that city.

Commenting on the affair the Times-Union of Albany had this to say on Thursday:

Albany's much advertised, much heralded, military ball at the Washington avenue armory Wednesday night, left a great deal to be desired. An indignant public who paid to hear Paul Whiteman's orchestra, and see "Stage and Screen Stars Appearing in Person," left the armory early, demanding a refund of their money.

Captain J. J. Donahue, of Company B, under whose auspices the event was given, was as much surprised and chagrined as anyone, at the way the night turned out. Jean LaMar, promoter, had promised great things, but the greatest thing he did last night was to prove the old adage, "There's one born every minute."

Jan Garber's corking fine orchestra was the only real New York feature on the program, but even Garber became morose as the evening sped on, the hall failed to fill, and dancers were few. Then followed the demand on Captain Donahue for payment for the orchestra, which was forthcoming from the captain.

The Three Doll Sisters, "Stage Stars in person", were the well known local dancing youngsters from Murray's Academy, Elizabeth Turgeon, Ruth Ecuyer and Mary De Fleumer. These girls were good, and with the Garber orchestra were the entire professional show, but the best show of all was the indignant public, and as one woman remarked: "It may be a military ball, but the only persons I've seen in a uniform are policemen."

MORE THAN 70 CATHOLIC REBELS REPORTED KILLED.

Mexico City, Feb. 17 (AP).—Dispatches from Guadalajara today said more than seventy Catholic rebels, including five chieftains, fell under federal fire yesterday during a series of clashes in the state of Jalisco. Different groups of insurgents, who have suddenly become active in the region where the Catholic rebellion has been going on for several months, were defeated.

Three chieftains fell in battle, two were captured and executed by municipal authorities, another surrendered, and another leader was stated to have been seriously wounded.

On the different battlefields forty-eight dead rebels were actually counted. Eleven were taken prisoners and immediately executed. A number of others are understood to have been killed in the encounters.

Advices received by General Andres Figuero, military commandant of the state, indicate that heavy fighting has been going on over an extensive area with disastrous results to the rebel cause.

Twenty-five rebels were killed and seven captured and executed at Climatlan. Federal forces under Lieutenant Colonel Agustin Terres defeated and dispersed a large group there under command of Chieftains Cuevas, Caro and Gomez.

RAILROAD EMBARGO ON TRANSPORTING DOGS

On account of the prevalence of rabies the Great Northern Railroad has placed an embargo on the transportation of dogs into or out of the following states: Alabama, Arizona, Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota, Oregon, Washington, Wisconsin, Wyoming and also Cook county, Ill., in which the city of Chicago is situated.

The law requires, before a dog is accepted for checking into or out of the states or county named that a certificate to the effect that the dog is healthy and free from rabies be presented from a veterinarian representing the state board of health of the state from which the shipment is made. The certificate must accompany the dog to its destination. There are several penalties for violation of these state requirements.

All persons who ship dogs are requested to see that the regulations governing the shipment of the animals are complied with.

MRS. COOLIDGE REPORTED MUCH BETTER TODAY

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP).—Mrs. Coolidge was "much better" today, White House physicians reported.

Her ailment, described as a cold, has kept her to her apartment for a week and prevented her from participation last night in the army and navy reception at the White House.

For the first time since she became ill, Mrs. Coolidge was able to leave her bed and she walked around a bit today.

Prize Goes to Sawkill.

Miss Lillian May of Sawkill on Wednesday received a check for $55 toward payment on a piano. It was awarded by the Edison Piano Company of Albany to her for solving an arithmetical problems which had been printed in The Freeman in an advertisement.

Arrestless Week Ends in Kingston

While there are countless days for this and that the Kingston police department has closed a successful "Arrestless Week" in the city when no arrest were made here. The week was abruptly closed, however, on Thursday when it was found necessary to make five arrests.

John Featherstone was picked up on Railroad avenue by Officer Dempsey who charge him with public intoxication. This morning Judge Shufeldt gave John a suspended sentence.

Grover C. Troy, who said he lived in Pittsfield, Mass., was arrested on Broadway by Officer Keresman and Hess, who charged him with public intoxication. He was sentenced to ten days in jail.

Joseph Price, 23, and Walter Price, 21, who said they lived in Chicago, Ill., were also arrested by Officers Keresman and Hess who charged them with disorderly conduct. One of the pair helped himself to a cake of soap from the police toilet. The soap was found in his pocket at the county jail where he was searched before being locked up for the night. This morning the brothers were given suspended sentences.

William Bell, 77, was arrested by Officer Keresman on Broadway who charged Bell with being drunk and disorderly. This morning Bell was sentenced to thirty days in jail.

14 Die in Oil Tanker Blast

Tokyo, Feb. 17 (AP).—The captain and thirteen members of the crew of the American oil tanker Chuky were killed when the vessel exploded at sea last Wednesday.

A trawler arrived here today and landed 21 survivors of the disaster, several of whom were injured. The tanker was enroute from San Pedro, Cal., to Japan.

San Pedro, Cal., Feb. 17 (AP).—The oil tanker Chuky left here January 19 for Tsurumi, Japan. At that time she was listed as being operated by the Chile steamship company of New York. She is registered under the ownership of the Sheridan steamship company of London.

The Chuky was a vessel of 7,375 gross tons built in Glasgow in 1922. The size of the crew is not known here.

COMMON SENSE AND SOUND JUDGMENT NEEDED.

New York, Feb. 17 (AP).—Common sense and sound judgment are avenues to peace for capital and labor, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said today at a hearing before an American Bar Association committee working to promote industrial amity.

"The American Federation of Labor believes that the relationship between men can bring industrial peace," Green said. "We do not believe that industrial peace will bring the millenium, but we feel that the application of common sense and sound judgment will lead to friendly relations between capital and labor."

He pledged the support of the Federation to the hearings being conducted by the sub-committee of the Bar Association's Commerce Committee to determine ways and means to promote industrial peace.

FIRE AT ROSE'S BRICKYARD CALLED KINGSTON FIREMEN

A fire that broke out in one of the kiln sheds on Rose's brickyard at Ulster Landing about 5:30 o'clock this morning caused a telephone appeal for help to be made to the Kingston fire department. Deputy Fire Chief Fred Leverich and the Wiltwyck pumper responded and pumped water from the Hudson river on the burning shed for about an hour before the fire was brought under control. About one hundred feet of the shed was destroyed. In responding to the fire one of the nozzles on the pumper was lost between this city and Ulster Landing. Any one finding it should notify the Central Fire Station.

CASES BEFORE U. S. COMMISSIONER CONNELLY.

Pasquali Guida was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Arthur C. Connelly Thursday afternoon on a charge of having possession of an unlicensed still without authority, but not in operation, at West Athens, Greene county. He waived examination and gave bail in $1,000 to appear before the federal grand jury.

William Sutherland was arraigned Thursday on a charge of having possession of an unlicensed still at New Paltz, but not in operation. The hearing was adjourned until March 7, at 2 p. m. Temporary bail in $1,000 was given for his appearance before Commissioner Connelly on that date.

Dismiss Charges Against Veitach.

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP).—Criminal contempt charges against C. L. Veitach, Baltimore manager for the Burns Detective Agency, were dismissed today by Justice Frederick L. Siddons in the Supreme court of the District of Columbia. The government opposed the action but the court held his guilt had not been established, "beyond a reasonable doubt".

Shipping Board Submits Report

To Congress Recommending New Policy for the Merchant Marine—Aids Suggested in Report of the Board.

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP).—The shipping board today sent to Congress its recommendations for a new policy for the merchant marine, embodying the report adopted at a recent meeting here of important shipping interests on legislation now before Congress.

The report adopted said that for the present there is no prospect of Congress enacting subsidy legislation, but it added that if Congress is content with carrying out the present merchant marine act, so as to bring about the transfer of government ships to private owners gradually, meanwhile providing for vessel replacements and new construction, the adoption of certain indirect aids would prove very effective.

The report suggested the following aids.

"Re-affirmation, as provided in the Jones Bill, of the national policy to establish and maintain a permanent merchant marine.

"Generous compensation for the carriage of foreign mails under long term contracts.

"Liberalization of the terms under which loans may be secured by the American shipbuilder and operator from the present construction loan fund.

"Federal tax exemption on American vessels operating in foreign trade, including a provision whereby deductions shall be allowed from taxable incomes derived from operating profits, to the extent that such profits are devoted to new ship construction.

"Transfer to privately owned American vessels of the business now handled by army and navy transports and by the vessels owned and chartered by the Panama Railroad Steamship Line.

"Amendment of section 23 of the act of Congress approved February 28, 1925, providing for the creation of a naval reserve, so as to authorize two months pay to such officers and men of the merchant marine naval reserve as are employed on vessels of the American Merchant Marine engaged in foreign trade.

"Establishment of an insurance system which will place American vessels on an equality with foreign vessels in the matter of insurance."

The excursion will be personally conducted by a representative of the company, who will furnish information concerning hotel accommodations, points of interest, sightseeing, trips, etc.

NEW YORK DELEGATES FRIENDLY TO HOOVER

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP).—Sentiment of the delegates at large from New York to the Republican national convention is distinctly friendly to Secretary Hoover, in the opinion of Representative Snell, of that state.

He said today after a call at the White House that while none of the delegates at large had committed himself to the commerce secretary, all were first for President Coolidge but felt that the President would not run and that they must look elsewhere for a candidate.

The New York delegates at large are Charles D. Hilles, Cornelius Bliss and Mrs. Pauline Sabin of New York city; former Senator Wadsworth for the western part of the state, and Snell and George K. Morris for upstate.

THREE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES AT WHITE HOUSE

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP).—Three avowed presidential candidates were among the group of senators at a White House breakfast this morning.

They were Senators Curtis of Kansas, Watson of Indiana, and Willis of Ohio.

Others present included Borah of Idaho and Walsh of Montana, who have been mentioned in connection with presidential discussion; Wagner of New York and Dale of Vermont.

Chic Shoppe Finds It Pays.

That it pays to advertise in The Freeman is the experience of the Chic Shoppe in the Broadway Theatre building, who advertised a sale on apparel for stout women in Thursday's issue, which brought out a large number of shoppers today.

Double Man Hunt In Chicago

Chicago, Feb. 17 (AP).—Chicago today became the center of a double manhunt after Sheriff M. Johnson of LaFayette, Ind., United Deputy Commissioner O'Connor that he believed the slayers of two Indiana deputies were being here.

The men sought are John Burns and Samuel Hacker, of West LaFayette, Ind., who disappeared while in custody of two deputies who were escorting them to a state reformatory in Indiana February 7.

Yesterday the bodies of the officers, John P. Grove and Wallace McClure were found by Charles Abdill in the woods near his farmhouse in Danville, Ill. Preliminary examination showed Grove's neck had been broken, and McClure's skull crushed.

Authorities believed the prisoners, who were in the back seat manacled with a single pair of handcuffs, had seized Grove around the neck and bent it backward until it snapped, meanwhile striking the other deputy with an automobile crank.

The bodies lay side by side, bound hand and foot, and partially covered with a laprobe. They had not been robbed.

The escaped prisoners were seen at the home of an uncle in Danville, Ill., the day they escaped. No trace of them has been found since.

D. A. R. Endorses Warship Program

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP).—The administration's warship construction program was endorsed today before the house naval committee by Mrs. William Sherman Walker, vice-president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, who urged members to turn a deaf ear to the appeals of pacifists.

"Speaking from an experience of close study of the radical and pacifistic movement now existing in America," she said, "we would invoke you to listen to the voices of constructionists and to ignore the demands of obstructionists.

"If our country were in trouble who would rally to its call, the people who are standing with you for an enlarged navy, or the people who are standing against you in this period of reconstruction of our national defenses?"

Before Mrs. Walker took the stand, Representative Britten, Republican, Illinois, who presided at today's session, declared that witnesses who in the last two days appeared in opposition to the program had been misinformed when they said that they had not heard the program referred to as one designed largely to replace old ships.

"With the exception of airplane carriers, everything in the program is distinctly for replacement," he declared.

Cold Wave in Western N. Y.

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 17 (AP).—Warning of a cold wave in western New York tomorrow was given out today by the weather bureau.

By tomorrow night, the bureau said, the temperature will drop close to zero following snow predicted for tonight and tomorrow and shifting of winds from southwest to northerly.

The winds may reach gale force along the lakes and in the northern section.

DRY AGENTS RAID FASHIONABLE JUNGLE CLUB.

New York, Feb. 17 (AP).—So quietly that the guests hardly knew a raid was in progress, dry agents early today raided the fashionable Jungle Club in the theatre district. Business was not interrupted.

Three couples in evening dress arrived at the club shortly after midnight and after being served signalled the fifteen dry agents outside, who arrested three waiters and seized three bottles of liquid. The patrons, most of them in evening dress, were not molested.

This raid, although by the same agents, was in contrast to that made on the Club Helen Morgan last month when the rooms were dismantled and their furnishings carted to a warehouse.

COLD WAVE WARNINGS ORDERED FOR SATURDAY

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP).—Cold wave warnings have been ordered for Saturday in the lower lake region, the Ohio Valley, the extreme north portion of the middle Atlantic states and the interior of New England.

The weather bureau said today that it would be colder tonight in the east Gulf states, western Tennessee, the lower Ohio valley and the interior of northern New England.

Groom Breaks Into Tailor Shop.

Santa Barbara, Cal., Feb. 17 (AP).—As his wedding hour drew near, L. R. Stutz, of New York, discovered that the tailor hadn't returned his suit. He broke into the tailor shop and was arrested as an officer caught him in the act. When he displayed a marriage license the tailor refused to prosecute. The wedding took place—late.

Great Reception In Chicago For New Citizens

On Washington's Birthday In the High School Auditorium—Justice Staley Will Deliver Principal Address.

Naturalized citizens will be the guests of honor of the City of Kingston at the big reception for newly naturalized citizens February 22, Washington's Birthday.

It is the hope of the American Legion committee on Americanism and education to present such an inspiring program for these new citizens of Uncle Sam, that the big auditorium in the Kingston High School will be taxed to capacity. The public is urged to attend this ceremony which is free.

The purpose of this great enterprise of the Legion is to make these new fellow citizens feel that the entire public is interested in their welfare and success in this country, and to make them realize that the United States is a country for them to be proud of being a citizen within its borders.

The High School Orchestra, composed of some fifty odd pieces, will furnish the musical entertainment. These young lads are talented musicians and the orchestra is considered one of the best in the city.

The Boy Scout troops of Kingston will also join in this celebration with a bit of entertainment and give to the public information of what the Boy Scouts do and what their organization means for the welfare of citizens in this country.

Grammar school pupils from the various districts will follow the scouts with recitations, singing and in various other ways, help to make the function a great success. The list of scholars who will appear in entertainment program has not yet been completed, but will be announced shortly.

Conrad J. Helselman, commander of the local American Legion, after the invocation by the Rev. George L. Withey, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church, and American Legion chaplain, will make a few brief opening remarks. He will then introduce Corporation Counsel Harry H. Fleming, who will make an address of welcome on behalf of the city to the new citizens.

John Stamatakos, proprietor of the Liberty Restaurant on Wall street, will make the response for the naturalized citizens. Mr. Stamatakos is a well known business man in Kingston and his Liberty Restaurant has achieved a fine reputation under his personal direction. Mr. Stamatakos also belongs to various business organizations in the city and is highly respected by his associates. He will probably talk on his experiences and struggles for success since he came to this country from Greece many years ago.

Supreme Court Justice Ellis J. Staley, of Albany, is scheduled to deliver the principal address during the evening. Justice Staley is widely known in New York state and has been a supreme court justice for seven years. He has a reputation of being a fine orator and is much interested in the work of receiving our new citizens. His talk will undoubtedly be of interest to all.

The reception has been warmly endorsed by the various civic organizations of Kingston interested in better citizenship. Among the organizations listed as interested in this fine movement are the Federation of Women's Club, Kiwanis Club, Daughters of American Revolution, Parent-Teacher Association and Rotary Club.

It is hoped that the results of this meeting will be to attract to American citizenship a great many foreigners who are either too timid or indifferent to apply for the great honor of becoming a full-fledged voting citizen in the great Commonwealth of the United States of America.

AIR MAIL SERVICE GIVES WEATHER REPORTS

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 17 (AP).—Exchange of weather reports between Buffalo, Cleveland and Erie is now made daily by the local office of the weather bureau. This service was arranged at the request of the municipal airport and of Colonial Western Airways, Inc., which has the Buffalo-Cleveland air mail contract.

Under this arrangement, noonday weather observations are taken at Buffalo and Erie and forwarded by telegraph to Cleveland so as to reach there before the mail plane leaves for Buffalo. Similar observations are taken at Erie and Cleveland just before mail plane leaves for Cleveland.

It is expected that similar service will be extended eastward as soon as the Buffalo-Schenectady and Buffalo-Albany air mail routes are opened.

It is planned later on by the weather bureau to maintain aerological service at the Buffalo airport to obtain information regarding upper air conditions. This information is obtained by means of pilot balloons and other apparatus.

DRIVES AXE INTO TREE SCATTERS $1,000 TREASURE

Modesto, Cal., Feb. 17 (AP).—A mouldering sheepskin bag containing $1,000 in double eagles burst and scattered its treasure when Frank Dittmar, Sawmill Flat rancher, drove his heavy axe into the roots of a scrub tree near his ranch yesterday.

The gold was hidden by a miner during the early days of California, it was believed.

Federation Gets Reports

Many Activities of Women's Club and the Federation Brought to the Attention of the Executive Committee.

Net receipts of about $75 reported from the Stratford Players' production of "Julius Caesar"; that some 2,000 Christmas seal letters had not been acknowledged in any way yet, that there was an exceptionally good movie being shown at the Orpheum Theatre, and that the Twentieth Century Club will entertain the Federation at its next open meeting in March were some of the things brought before the executive committee meeting at the Kingston City Library on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Edgar N. Palen presided.

Following the routine business a tentative report of the financial side of the recent production of "Julius Caesar" showed about $75 cleared by the Federation, which will be used for philanthropic and civic purposes. The clubs were thanked for their cooperation in selling tickets for the same and giving publicity to the affair. A vote of thanks was also given to the president and vice president, Mrs. Grover C. Lasher, and assisting committee for their time and effort spent in making the affair the success it was, especially in bringing out such a large number of high school and eighth grade students. Not a little of the success of the evening was due to the Boy Scouts of St. James M. E. Church who so thoroughly distributed the bills advertising the Shakespearean play, and the Federation executive committee wished to publicly thank this Boy Scout troop for the splendid service they rendered.

There were few clubs that had anything beyond routine work to report, though the Lowell Club reported for its subject of study next year "Italy"; the Atharhacton Club, "Modern Literature".

The Twentieth Century Club will be the entertaining club at the next open meeting, the third Saturday in March, when they will bring to Kingston Chancellor McGown, of the American International College of Springfield, Mass., who will probably speak on some phase of his particular work, "Americanization".

Dr. Day of the Public Health Committee made a remarkable report about the Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Sale. In spite of the fact that "follow-up" letters had been sent to all persons in the county who were delinquent in paying for or returning the seals sent them, there are still some 2,000 of the letters that have not been heard from in any way. If these people would only respond with some interest in this wonderful work, and that before February 22, it might be possible for Dr. Day to report for once that Ulster county had met its full quota on the Seal sale, when she attends the State Tuberculosis and Public Health meeting in New York city.

As chairman of the Moving Picture Committee, Dr. Day further reported the interesting fact that of the list of the 15 best motion pictures shown in 1927, according to a noted English critic, nine were American films. It was also gratifying to note that a few of the nine were shown in Kingston last year. It was also reported that "Seventh Heaven," was being shown at the Orpheum Theatre—it has been shown in Kingston before—and was a beautiful and worth-while movie.

Miss Lucy Healy, chairman of the Membership Committee, reported one new individual member, Miss Mattie Sampter, and the resignation of two members because of ill health, Mrs. Grace Van Buren Gray and Mrs. Jacob Lay. The resignations were accepted with regret. There are now 59 individual members.

Mrs. Reed of the Good Government Committee reported that sickness and a dangerously stormy night had prevented the women of the Executive Committee who had expected to attend the first February meeting of the Common Council from so doing. They hoped to attend one of the subsequent meetings soon. One or two phases of city government were considered.

A communication from the local post of the American Legion asking for the cooperation of The Federation in the proper observance of Memorial Day in our city was read, and the president was asked to represent The Federation at the designated Legion meeting to perfect plans for a suitable program for the day.

This closed the afternoon's session.

Sure Way to Stop Night Coughing

A Prescription That Ends Night Coughs in 15 Minutes.

Persistent night coughing, usually due to causes which cough syrups and patent medicines do not touch. A remarkable prescription known as Thoxine, working on an entirely different principle, goes right to the cause, and is guaranteed to stop the stubbornest cough within 15 minutes. One swallow is all that's needed. If it fails, get your money back. No chloroform or other harmful drugs. Safe for children. Equally good for sore throat. 25c., 60c. and $1.00. Sold by superior to gargles. Ask for Thoxine, 25c., 60c. and $1.00. Sold by Kingston Central Pharmacy and all good drug stores.

the dinner and annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at which she found a surprisingly large numbers of Kingston women and which she found very enjoyable.

OFFICE CAT

By Junius

It's a Hard Life.

My lofty aspirations come swiftly to earth
When my furnace I'm compelled to supply with ammunition;
Ah, how much more would life, indeed, be worth
If furnaces, my dear, could be fired with ambition.

He: Are you good looking?
She (coyly): I've been told so.
He: Well, go down to the street and see if you can find the pen I lost.

A fellow's mama is still his best friend.

He was a big leaguer so he bought her a baseball diamond.

Mr. Coolidge can't blame his friends. Even congress has failed at times to respect his "No."

Anyway—the man who stutters generally has a pretty good idea of what he's trying to say.

Two Scotchmen went fishing with an understanding that the first one to catch a fish was to buy the "soda." One got a bite that almost broke his pole, but refused to pull up. The other was fishing without bait.

A witty fellow says it used to be "kiss and make up." Now it's kiss the makeup.

Mr. Jacobs: "I selis you dat coat at a grand sacrifice."
Customer: "But you say that of all your goods. How do you make a living?"
Mr. Jacobs: "Mien frient, I makes a schmall profit on de paper and string."

A girl who won't wash dishes because it makes her hands all red, smokes cigarettes and makes them all yellow.

"The storm burst upon us all so suddenly and violently that we had no warning of its approach," said the tornado victim, relating his experience to a friend. "In an instant the house was demolished and scattered to the four winds. How I escaped being torn to pieces I do not know. We—"

"G-good gracious!" said Mr. Meeke, jumping to his feet. "That reminds me. I almost forgot to post a letter for my wife."

The wise girl who knows her onions never breathes a word of it to her boy friends.

Verily the soft pedal accomplishes more than the club.

Mother (to little boy playing bareheaded in hot sun)—Come 'ere, 'Arold and put your 'at on—if you 'adn't got one you'd always be wearin' it, you're that contrary.

We're getting away from the point," said the shavings to the pencil sharpener.

Funny world. A man who couldn't get backers to open a grocery store can find plenty to back a fool flying stunt.

Enemies of Cockroach

In Europe a parasitic four-winged fly often lays its eggs in the capsules of the cockroach. This fly has become widely distributed over the world, following the roach. Unfortunately, its usefulness as a means of keeping the roach in check by destroystroying the egg capsules is greatly impaired by the occurrence of another four-winged fly which is parasitic upon the first. Among other natural enemies of the roach are tree frogs, and it has been stated that if these animals are inclosed in a room overnight they will entirely clear it of roaches.

Diplomatic Privileges

Not many people know that diplomats, even though civilians, wear a distinctive uniform for formal occasions. The more gold on sleeve and collar the higher the rank. All wear dress swords. Their order of precedence is not governed, as many people think, by size or importance of the country. It hinges on length of service at a particular post. In other words, the man who has longest represented his country as ambassador at Washington comes first. He is called the dean of the diplomatic corps.—Pathfinder Magazine.

KINGSTON, N. Y., FEB. 17, 1928.

The new civil service examinations for border customs patrol are having an unusual effect. Of the Lake Erie force of 16 men, half have been dropped because of inability to pass, and the remaining eight are all college men. The force is to be brought up to 20 men, of whom nearly all will be college graduates. Here is a new career for college men. If the same cultural standards are applied generally among dry enforcement officers, prohibition will become a very highbrow institution. And since colleges strive for service, we may have university courses in prohibition enforcement. It may work well until some master-bootlegger endows a rum-runners' college.

The House of Laity of the Church of England has finally adopted the much-disputed revision of the Prayer Book. The Bishops and Clergy and the other two houses of the Church had already done so. So that makes it unanimous, as far as the church body itself is concerned. Now it goes up to Parliament again, where there will be further religious fireworks. But sooner or later, the politicians will stop fighting about it. Sometimes we find British institutions or practices that seem superior to our own, but this Church-and-State combination isn't one of them. We often pray for politics and politicians, but give them no authority over our prayers.

"Steel Helmet" men put on a demonstration in Berlin the other day, parading ostentatiously in front of the imperial palace in honor of Prince Eitel Friedrich, second son of the former Kaiser. There were 2,500 of them, under the protection of as many policemen. A hot time ensued. The Berlin public behaved as the Dublin public might be expected to in such a situation. Republicans and Communists gathered by tens of thousands to protest. The marchers were assailed with eggs, flowerpots and other missiles from windows all along the route and were attacked fiercely by infuriated crowds. The police had hard work to restore order. Evidently there is very little regard for royalty left in Berlin. Or elsewhere in Germany, for that matter.

PARKING ON PREMISES.

The downtown parking problem that has been agitating Chicago and many other cities lately will probably be solved by more than one means. One method obviously is going to be the provision by stores of free parking space on the premises. A mail order firm, planning to erect two retail stores in Cleveland, has picked out the sites with a view to parking service for customers. Many department stores, long established and without parking facilities close at hand, hold their driving customers by providing parking space somewhere else, with bus service from there to the store entrance.

It is conceivable that office buildings of the future may contain a certain amount of floor space reserved for parking. As motor traffic increases it becomes clear that the sides of main thoroughfares should not be cluttered up with parked cars. It drives away customers. Yet arbitrarily banning all such parking drives away customers, too. With space for automobiles inside and airplanes on roofs, business concerns may hold their trade and still do away with traffic congestion at their doors.

PLANE MAY OUTLAST AUTO

There have been many confusing reports regarding Lindbergh's famous airplane, the Spirit of St. Louis. Some have said that it has a new engine, others that the engine has been overhauled several times, others that hardly any part of the original plane remains. It is an important question because of its bearing on the durability of present-day aircraft. Lindbergh himself made a clear statement of the matter in one of his recent newspaper letters, and the facts and figures make a notable mark in the history of aviation. Up to the time of leaving for Havana, he said, the Spirit of St. Louis had flown a little more than 450 hours and covered nearly 40,000 miles in 467 flights. That brief statement in itself is eloquent. Lindbergh adds these remarkable details:

The motor has never been replaced and never had a "major overhauling." There have not been more than 6 per cent replacements on plane or engine. Both are in excellent condition, apparently good for long service yet. "With proper care and maintenance," he concludes, "a modern engine should have a minimum life of 150,000 miles."

This is considerably better than the automobile expectation of life, with all its improvement, after a development period considerably longer than the history of aviation. That is to say, in Lindbergh's judgment, the airplane today is more durable than the automobile.

There is no evident reason why it should not be, with good care and skillful handling. The automobile is in danger of damage every mile it travels, and almost every part of it continually subject to wear. The airplane while in the air is little subject to danger, and has fewer moving parts to wear out. Aviation perils are mainly in starting and landing.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

SWALLOWING ANY SHARP OBJECT.

Perhaps you are a good many miles away from anywhere, and you or some members of your family, have the misfortune to accidentally swallow a pin, needle, or other sharp object, which one would naturally expect to do some damage to the system.

A case reported from a British hospital is worth recording.

At 3 o'clock on September 9, while eating taffy, the patient swallowed a triangular piece of a razor blade, with a long side made by the cutting edge, one end of which made a sharp needle like point. He lost a couple of ounces of blood, which was likely from the throat as the blade went down to stomach. That same evening a meal of cotton wool and jam was administered, and early the next morning a meal of thick oatmeal porridge. At 11 o'clock the same morning an X-ray showed that the blade had passed safely through the stomach, through the small intestine, and was in the first part of the large intestine, with less than six feet to go, to be completely through the intestine and out of the body.

Nothing further was done for twenty-four hours, that is until about 2 o'clock the next afternoon, when a large dose of castor oil was given, and the following morning the blade came away without any damage to the intestine whatever.

Now you may not have cotton wool at hand, but you are likely to have some white bread, which if taken in large quantity, say a quarter or half a loaf, should help to protect the stomach and intestines from any sharp object that may be accidentally swallowed.

Oatmeal porridge or other thick cereal, if at hand, is likewise excellent.

This is another place where the X-ray can be of help, because metal substances will always show their exact location, and if they become lodged at a point where they may prove dangerous, an operation down on exact point can usually be safely undertaken.

However your main thought, when any sharp object or any metal object is accidentally swallowed, is to eat foods that will protect the walls of the stomach and intestine.

In the case mentioned above, the razor blade could be seen right in the very center of the waste material in the intestine.

AGRIGRAPHS

Stone and sand used in making concrete should be free from dirt.

The new egg-grading laws in New York state give consumers a definite thing to ask for and to receive.

Chicks hatched in late May and June do not start to lay until the season of high-priced eggs in the fall is past.

Ontario variegated alfalfa is probably the best hardy variety for New York state of which seed is available in large quantities.

Uncle Ab says: Don't live in the grave yard; the world is more interested in what you can do than in what your ancestors did.

To control peach leaf curl, the germs must be killed before the buds begin to break. The indications are that the disease will be severe this spring.

Fruit trees have to be sprayed carefully and systematically in this age to produce good fruit, and some of these sprays have to be applied during the dormant season. Cornell has a bulletin which gives this information for apple growers. It is number E 114 and copies may be had from the state college of agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y.

JEFFERSON'S ESTIMATE OF GEORGE WASHINGTON

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 17 (AP).—Thomas Jefferson's own estimate of George Washington is contained in a letter which the third president wrote 114 years ago.

The letter, now a part of the Randolph collection of Jefferson documents, was addressed to Dr. Walter Jones on January 2, 1814. It described the revolutionary leader as "a wise, a good and a great man."

Washington's mind was "great and powerful" but "slow in operation," Jefferson declared, while "his heart was not warm in its affections."

"Perhaps the strongest feature of his character was prudence," Jefferson wrote.

"Never acting until every circumstance, every consideration, was maturely weighed; refraining if he saw a doubt, but, when once decided, going through with his purpose, whatever obstacles opposed. His integrity was most pure, his justice the most inflexible I have ever known, no motives of interest or consanguinity, of friendship or hatred being able to bias his decision. . . .

"His temper was naturally irritable and high toned; but reflection and resolution had obtained a firm and habitual ascendancy over it. If ever, however, it broke its bonds, he was most tremendous in his wrath.

"In his expenses he was honorable, but exact; liberal in contributions to whatever promised utility; but frowning and unyielding on all visionary projects, and all unworthy calls on his charity. . . . He exactly calculated every man's value, and gave him a solid esteem proportioned to it. . . .

"In public, when called on for a sudden opinion, he was unready, short and embarrassed. Yet he wrote readily, rather diffusely, in an easy and correct style. This he had acquired by conversation with the world, for his education was merely reading, writing and common arithmetic, to which he added surveying at a later day. . . .

"On the whole, his character was, in its mass, perfect, in nothing bad, in few points indifferent; and it may be truly said, that never did nature and fortune combine more perfectly to make a man great, and to place him in the same constellation with whatever worthies have merited from man an everlasting remembrance."

Mexican election will soon be all over but the shooting.

N.Y.-London Dirigible Line

United States Confident 48-Hour Air Mail and Passenger Service Between London and New York Is a Question of Time.

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—Confident that 48-hour air mail and passenger service between London and New York is no longer a matter of attainment in days, but a matter of months, the government is clearing the way for participation by the United States in a new era of trans-Atlantic air transport.

Spurred by announcement that the giant British dirigible R-100, nearing completion in England, will make demonstration voyages over the Atlantic as a prelude to show the feasibility of the plan, executive branches are moving quickly to assure full American cooperation in consummation of an air line over the Atlantic.

The postoffice department, through Warren J. Glover, assistant postmaster general in charge of air mail, has indicated that if Britain institutes regular transatlantic service, the government will be ready to despatch mail in quantities to England by air at the regular two-cent postage rate now in effect. Similar plans by British postal authorities call for a three-cent letter rate on United States-bound mail with a surcharge of nine cents.

Rep. Clyde Kelly of Pennsylvania has offered in congress a measure authorizing the postmaster general to contract for trans-oceanic mail at $3 a pound. Its passage will remove almost the last barrier to American use of the liners for mail.

President Coolidge has expressed his interest in the plan in connection with the visit to Washington of C. D. Burney, member of the British parliament and representative of sponsors of the R-100.

At the president's direction, Secretary Wilbur of the navy is making available the mooring mast at Lakehurst, N. J., for the demonstration flight, and Secretary of Commerce Hoover is looking into the project with a view to aiding it as he may through the department's section of commercial aviation.

The R-100 will be 709 feet long—51 feet longer than the U. S. navy dirigible Los Angeles. It will have a carrying capacity of 100 passengers and ten tons of freight, a cruising radius of 4,000 miles and a speed of 75 miles an hour.

It will be able, Burney estimates, to voyage from New York to London in about 38 hours, but the west-ward flight will take ten hours more because of the difference in prevailing winds. The ship will have the luxurious state rooms and appointments of an ocean liner.

Present plans call for endurance maneuvering and mooring tests for the R-100 in July and August, to be followed in September by the trans-Atlantic tests. If these succeed, British capital is prepared, Burney says, to organize at once a $35,000,000 corporation to build five more ships to serve with the R-100 as a trans-atlantic air fleet.

First Indian Reservation?

It is believed that the reservation at Indian Mills, N. J., established in 1758, was the first Indian reservation established in the United States.

EXPERIMENT STATION REPORT NOW AVAILABLE

The forty-sixth annual report of the Experiment Station at Geneva is now available for distribution free of charge to anyone interested in the progress of the work under way at the Station. This report is the last to be issued under the direction of Dr. R. W. Thatcher before he relinquished his duties as Director of the Station to accept the presidency of the Massachusetts Agricultural College.

While a large part of the report is devoted to administrative details, considerable space is given to a discussion of the progress of the many projects upon which the Station specialists are at work. A list of the publications put out by the Station during the period covered by the report is also given.

ISSUES WARNING ON UNKNOWN SEED AGENTS

Buying seeds from unknown agents is a gamble that New York farmers would do well to avoid in view of the many reliable sources of seed within their reach, declares M. T. Munn, State Seed Analyst at the Experiment Station at Geneva. Much of the seed peddled about by unknown agents is below the average market grade and frequently it is bin-run goods, says Mr. Munn, who urges that all farm seeds be purchased from reliable dealers personally known to the buyer.

The Quantico Marine Corps football eleven will play ten games this season. The feature event will be the contest with the Army for the President's cup to take place at the Catholic university stadium, Washington, November 10.

Are You Nervous, Run Down, Weak?

To have "pep" and ambition, and the ability to do a big day's work and feel "like a two year old" at night, you must eat three good meals a day, relish your food and properly digest it. If you can't eat, can't sleep, can't work, just take a teaspoonful of Tanlac three times a day before meals.

Mrs. Harriett Grimes of 31 Shields Ave., Buffalo, N. Y., writes us: "My appetite and digestion were all upset. I was tormented with headaches and dizzy spells. My daughter advised me to take Tanlac. Now I feel so fine that I can sweep, clean or cook all day."

Tanlac is wonderful for indigestion and constipation—gas, pains, nausea, dizziness and headaches. It brings back lost appetite, helps you digest your food, and gain strength and weight. It contains no mineral drugs; it is made of roots, barks and herbs, nature's own medicines for the sick. The cost is less than 2 cents a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist and give it a thorough trial. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

Income Tax in a Nutshell

Tips For Taxpayers.

NO. 5.

To be allowed an exemption of $3,500, a married couple must have "lived together" in the eyes of the law for the entire taxable year. However, in the absence of continuous residence together the question of whether man and wife are living together depends upon the character of the separation. If, occasionally, the husband is away on business, or if, for any necessary reason, a temporary separation exists, the full exemption is allowed. But when the husband deliberately and continuously makes his home at one place and the wife at another, they are classed as single persons, and each is allowed an exemption of $1,500 only.

In the absence of continuous actual residence together, whether a person with dependent relatives is the head of a family, and therefore entitled to an exemption of $3,500, also depends upon the character of the separation. If a father is away on business or a child or other dependent is away at school or on a visit, the common home being maintained, the exemption applies. If a parent is obliged to maintain his dependent children in a boarding house while he lives elsewhere, the exemption may still apply. But if benefactor and dependent needlessly and continuously live apart, the status of a head of a family does not exist, irrespective of the support given.

Perhaps Not

Macauley, one of the most brilliant Englishman of his century, couldn't commit the multiplication table to memory. Mathematics proved too much for him. It is said Emerson was never quite certain about nine times seven. This supposed deficiency in mathematics on the part of men who are brilliant in other lines does not always really exist. Some men and women think they are unable to understand mathematics when the truth is they were badly taught. They may have the same capacity that others have, but they have approached the subject in the wrong way.

Many people have more intellectual capacity than they suspect. What they are afflicted with is not dumbness but mental indolence.—Grove Patterson, in the Mobile Register.

Beheading Ax Unused

Visitors to the British home office in Whitehall, London, still see a relic of the Cato street conspiracy in 1820 in a beheading ax which is kept in a glass case. The ax has never beheaded anyone, but it was made to behead the conspirators. The five persons convicted were sentenced to be beheaded in the ordinary way but the authorities decided to hang them first and not take any chances. The beheading was done in public immediately afterward on the scaffold. It was performed with a surgeon's amputating knife by a masked "resurrection man" who was paid 20 guineas for his services.

Schoolmaster of Old Stern in Discipline

An occasional copy of the People's Magazine for 1836 is found in New England's "attic libraries." In one of these yellowed volumes treasured in a Bradford (N. H.) home is a casual mention of a statistical matter that might be of interest to present-day pedagogs.

It is stated that a certain schoolmaster named John James Hauberle had taught school 51 years. In that time he had given the youths entrusted to his care 911,957 blows with a stick, 24,410 strokes with a rod, 20,899 ferrulings, 136,715 blows with one hand, 10,326 slaps on the chops, 7,905 boxes on the ear, 1,115,000 raps on the head, 12,342 Nota Benes with the Bible, catechism, Psalm book and grammar, and had made boys kneel 613 times on peas and 777 times on a three-cornered block of wood.

Father Mabry In Florida

The Rev. Gregory Mabry, pastor of the Church of the Holy Cross, who has been in ill health of many months, has been granted a leave of absence of four months from his parish duties for recovery. At present he is in Orlando, Fla. His parishioners and many friends will wish him a speedy recovery of health. Father Mabry has been pastor of Holy Cross since 1919 and the parish has greatly flourished under his administration. He founded the Convent of Saint Anne, located at 287 Broadway, in 1923, and has interested himself in welfare work in the community, particularly for children and the sick. His absence will in no wise interfere with the usual services and activities of the parish which will be carried on by Fathers Bert and Hornby.

FIVE INSECT PESTS MAY OVERRUN STATE.

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 17.—"Almost within the last ten years, at least four serious insect pests from foreign lands have been discovered in this country and now threaten to overrun New York state and, indeed, to spread throughout the whole country. These are the European corn borer, the Japanese beetle, the Oriental peach moth, and the Asiatic beetle, while a fifth species, the twilight beetle, may also prove to be injurious," said Dr. Glen W. Herrick, entomologist at the New York state college of agriculture here, speaking today at Farm and Home Week.

"The European corn borer seems to have stowed itself away in some stalks of broom corn somewhere in the Valley of the Danube in Hungary or on some sunny plain in Northern Italy and from thence to have traveled overland to some port on the Mediterranean where it embarked as a stowaway and eventually landed in the port of Boston, an unwelcome, unbidden, and now much noticed guest. It seems likely that the borer was carried to some broom factory near Boston from which an escape was made to the corn fields of nearby growers where the culprit was discovered in the summer of 1916. Since that time the corn-borer has spread over much of New England, practically all of New York state, some of Pennsylvania, much of Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan and most of Ontario, Canada. It promises within the next five years to establish itself in most of the corn-growing states of this country.

The Japanese Beetle.

"In 1916 there was discovered in a nursery in New Jersey, near Philadelphia, a notorious insect now known as the Japanese beetle. Its menu is wide and varied, for it is fond of many cultivated fruits, especially apples, cherries, grapes, raspberries, and blackberries. It also feeds with avidity on red clover, corn, rose, althea, hollyhock, elm, birch, linden, oak, and dozens of other cultivated and wild plants. It is often found on these food plants in enormous numbers.

"A series of experiments were carried through several seasons in which all sorts of poisons and poison mixtures were tried in an attempt to kill the beetles but their discriminating sense of taste frustrated all the ingenuity of the experimenters until an ingenious chemist hit upon a plan of coating the particles of poison with a neutral substance to which the beetles did not object. Now the beetles are being fed with "sugar-coated pills" of poison.

"The Asiatic beetle was first discovered in the summer of 1920 in the suburbs of New Haven, Conn. Later and more careful study of the beetles show that they were undoubtedly native to the Philippine Islands and therefore bona fide American citizens after all. The insect had been carried to Japan and also to Hawaii but just how or from whence it came to us we do not know.

"The worst type of injury so far produced by this pest is the damage done to lawns and grass lands by the grubs which live in the soil. The beetles have already reached Long Island where they are doing much damage to the late Judge Gary's estate at Jericho. The insect will eventually reach all parts of this state and the grubs will undoubtedly cause more or less serious injury to golf courses, lawns, pastures, and meadows.

To the President.

"The native home of the Oriental peach moth insect has never been determined but it probably came to this country from Japan about 1913 or 1914. Perhaps it came on those lovely flowering cherries presented to President Taft by the Mikado of Japan. Even so, a view of them in spring when they are in full bloom goes a long way toward compensating us for the presence of what promises to be a serious pest.

"The moth is now distributed far and wide in this country and is known in this state in the Hudson River Valley and in certain localities bordering Lake Erie. It attacks and severely injures peaches, quinces, apricots, nectarines, cherries, plums and sometimes the apple and pear. Moreover no satisfactory method of control has yet been found and it probably will not be found soon owing to the difficulty of getting at the caterpillars.

The Twilight Beetle.

"The twilight beetle discovered at New Rochelle, L. I., in 1923, is so little known that its possibilities for trouble can only be guessed at. Evidence indicates that it came from Japan. The insect is apparently spreading rapidly and the next few years will probably find it covering a wide territory by which time we shall know more definitely its capabilities as a pest.

"In view of the certainty with which these insects will spread over this whole country, one may naturally inquire, what will be the outcome?" Dr. Herrick said. His reply to this question was "undoubtedly they will do millions of dollars worth of damage, but it may be possible to control them ultimately by the various methods now being devised. We need the best efforts of all entomologists, however, if we are to prevent serious damage to our agriculture and to our homes."

ANOTHER UNSOLICITED TRIBUTE FOR ALL-BRAN
Good news for sufferers from constipation
Mrs. Kiell sat down and wrote us a letter when she had proved ALL-BRAN a safe "cure-cure" for constipation. Read her voluntary tribute:
April 4, 1927
"I have been using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN for quite some time and I want to tell you how much I appreciate it. I have found it a cure-cure for constipation, and know it is a remarkable regulator for the stomach. After using it, my family and I certainly will not be without it. I have even gone so far as to send some of it to my mother in Poland, Europe."
Gratefully yours,
Mrs. ANNA KIELL
77 Walnut Terrace, Newark, N. J.
Perhaps you know what a terrible affliction constipation is. Blighting wherever it thrives. Ruining health. Marring beauty. Causing headaches, back pains, foul breath, loss of sleep—indeed, leading to more than forty serious diseases.
But did you know it can be easily relieved by a pleasant cereal food? Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring relief. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Serve with milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Use in cooking. At grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

New Resources Found in Canada

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 17 (AP)—Each year in Canada surveys are pushed farther into the hinterland, and each advance discloses valuable resources of which citizens had not previously been aware.

The Peace River district has been popularly thought of as the last "inland empire" in that direction, but an engineer of the Topographical Survey of the Department of the Interior during the summer of 1927 penetrated west and north of the outermost edge of Peace River and found a land of fertile grassy hills, of high rolling open plateaus upon which roam flocks of Rocky Mountain goat, bighorn sheep and herds of caribou, and where the grizzly bear takes his ease with dignity. The country is drained by clear, cold, fish-teeming rivers and streams which have their rise in the glaciers of the main range of the Rockies to the west.

A train journey of eighteen hours north and west from Edmonton brings one to the town of Peace River, Alberta, on the banks of the river of the same name. Two hundred and fifty miles up the stream from Peace River is Hudson Hope, B. C., a Hudson's Bay Company post at the head of navigation for river steamers. The great new country lies beyond and one of its most interesting natural features, some seventy miles northwest of Hudson Hope, is the waterfall on the Graham river where the whole stream makes a sheer drop of 220 feet over a perpendicular rock.

Another source of wonder is the Nelson River, the most southerly tributary of the Liard river, with its canyon 1,000 feet deep extending forty miles easterly from the mountains. The river itself was crossed on a raft last summer by the explorers, a procedure that was fraught with danger and excitement.

The investigations of the explorers extended in general over an area eighty miles west and 175 miles north of Hudson Hope, or, roughly between latitudes 56 and 58 degrees and longitudes 122 and 124 degrees. Fifteen years ago the southeastern corner of this country, the nearest point to civilization, lay distant from Edmonton, a six weeks' journey of hard travelling. Now, with improved rail and steamboat facilities, it can be reached in summer in as many days. The southerly edge of this area was first touched in 1793 by Sir Alexander Mackenzie during his famous overland journey to the Pacific. Later on the more accessible portions of the Peace and Finlay rivers were explored.

In 1897 and 1898 at the height of the Klondike rush, Inspector Moodie of the Northwest Mounted Police cut a pack trail from Fort St. John, B. C., through Laurier Pass to Fort Graham and Telegraph creek in an attempt to locate a trail to the Yukon. In 1911 Major Hart, also of the Mounted Police, made an exploratory trip to the north, but apart from this little was known to the outside world about this country until the return of the 1927 survey party. In consequence of the season's work a total of about 10,000 square miles of new territory was covered and information for the issue of a preliminary map.

SECOND WIND

THERE is nothing easier than convincing yourself that you have worked so long your brain has begun to fag.

Then you postpone the job till another day, and must spend perhaps an hour getting back to the mental state in which you left it off.

And the chances are then you will never get exactly back into the same swing you had when you quit.

Quitting a thing when it is half finished is, of course, due to the natural laziness in all of us, and which is the hardest thing we have to overcome.

• • •

We can all work twice as hard, mentally, as most of us do.

Only a terrific and overpowering interest in what we are doing will keep us at a task till our minds are so wide awake that they can bring all their powers to bear on it.

Men who do big things keep at them and at them—and they find that they can often get a second mental wind, which will make continuing as easy or easier than the work was before.

When James Russell Lowell wrote "The Vision of Sir Launfal" he shut himself up in a room and stayed there for two days till the job was done. And he was not exhausted when he got through.

The chances are that if he had tried to write the poem by fits and starts he could never have got it done.

• • •

If you were shut into a room, and knew that the only way you could ever reach sunlight and food again was to find a secret passage out, you would find the secret passage.

The passage to many sorts of success are secret, and have to be hunted out by the reason.

The fact that men accomplish great things proves that it can be done.

There are differences in minds, of course, but the commonplace mind, by grim determination, will often accomplish more than the brilliant one which is always ready to take a rest.

Just to "keep plugging" will not accomplish much. But to keep plugging with all the power of the mind will, and must, accomplish a great deal.

Mother's Cook Book

"To watch the corn grow, or the blossoms set; to draw hard breath over the plowshare, or spade; to read, to think, to love, to pray—these are the things that make men happy."

SALADS, SALAD MAKING

SALAD time is from January to December, any time is salad time. The important thing to remember is that in salads are almost always the foods we need most. Green vegetables, fruits and succulent vegetables such as celery, cucumber, cabbage and green pepper, with the crisp and tender lettuce.

A crisp and delicate dish of salad will often cause the meal of heartier food to be well digested; without it, these foods could cause distress.

If one does one's own marketing, it is a delightful way to get an early morning walk and choose your own salads.

Certain green vegetables, too small or unattractive as to shape and size, though perfectly wholesome, may be used for salads, as they are to be cut into pieces.

Small-sized fruits which may have discolored skins, lowering the price, can be purchased for various salads and desserts. The quality is just as good and quite a saving on the food bills can be made in this way. This is true of celery, lettuce and many vegetables and fruits.

A handful of nuts, too few to serve as a whole, a bit of cheese too small to serve to guests, may be utilized in a salad and make a most gratifying dish. When there is too much acid in the blood, such fruits as produce an alkaline reaction should be served. Oranges and grapefruit are among these.

Cardinal Salad.

Dissolve a package of lemon jello in one and one-half cupfuls of boiling water, add one-half cupful of the canned juice of beets. When cool add one cupful celery shredded, one cupful of diced cooked beets, one-half cupful of Spanish onion chopped fine and one green pepper finely shredded. Add one teaspoonful of salt and pour into molds to harden. Serve on lettuce, unmolded, with a mayonnaise dressing.

P.-T. A. School No. 2.

The Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 2 met on Tuesday. Mrs. Brown reviewed the history of the National Parent-Teacher organization in honor of Founder's Day. Mrs. Goodrich, the librarian, gave a pleasing paper on "Children's Books." Mrs. Goodrich believes the only way to make a child fond of reading is to begin when the child is young to read aloud to him. In this way, an appreciation of the beauty of language is developed. In keeping with the subject of Mrs. Goodrich's talk, Mary O'Connor recited "What a Book Says," and William Albright, "A Land of Story Books." Both children were heard with pleasure.

In the Day's Catch

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

(Copyright)

TWO ladies sat rocking on the broad veranda that faced the sea, and, as they rocked, they talked. And always their conversation came back to Elaine Endicott.

"I never knew before," said one of them—the one whose son had nearly gotten himself engaged to Elaine the summer before—"that Elaine was fond of fishing!"

"My dear Frances," retorted the other, who had a daughter who had never been nearly engaged to anybody, "all the men at this hotel are out after blackfish. Anchored off Twin Brothers reef. The girl hasn't quite nerve enough to go out and sit on the reef with no excuse at all, so she becomes devoted to the art of catching blackfish. Do you see?"

Frances Goodrich nodded. "I believe you are right," she said.

"Of course I am right!" persisted Isobel. "Whenever I hear that Elaine has taken up a new hobby, I immediately think, 'Cherchez l'homme.' She nearly broke her neck riding horseback because Phil Congdon was a horse lover. She learned golf to play with Reginald Jones. She became wild over motor boating to catch—oh, forgive me, Frances!" as a look on the other woman's face reminded her that she was actually going to bring in the name of her son. "I wasn't thinking—"

"It's true enough," admitted Mrs. Goodrich, "but I am responsible for her failure. I told Bill I would not consent to any marriage with Elaine Endicott and he had the good sense to see that a pretty face and a knowledge of sports was not enough for him. Where, by the way, is Muriel?"

"Muriel? Why, I believe she's playing a two-handed bridge with old Mrs. Gunnison. Muriel is so unselfish when others are concerned."

It was a beautiful day, with a gentle wind that rippled the blue water and rocked the fleet of rowboats anchored beyond the reef. From the veranda it was possible to distinguish the occupants of those boats. But as nightfall approached there would be idle speculation along the veranda as to which one of the fishermen would have been most favored by luck.

Lunch was over and likewise those naps indulged in afterward by the older guests when Muriel came up to her mother.

"I am going rowing," she said.

"Alone, dear?"

"Oh, yes, mother dear."

"Very well. Don't be gone too long. You know how mother worries!"

Three hours later Mrs. Goodrich looked up from her cards to where her friend was standing by the veranda rail, scanning the water. "Good gracious, Isobel!" she called out.

"What is the matter?"

"Why, Muriel went out rowing three hours ago, and there isn't a sign of her anywhere!"

"Well," said Frances, comfortably. "Muriel can swim, and she can stand up and wave her arms if she has lost an oar. There are plenty of people around. Don't worry. Did I tell you I had a telegram from Billy? He's running down from the city in his launch. Doesn't know just what time he'll breeze in, he says, but probably this evening."

The minutes passed. Muriel didn't appear. Then some one called attention to the fact that there seemed to be a couple of boats pulling in from the reef already.

"Luck must have been awfully good or perfectly rotten or they think it's going to blow," remarked Mrs. Goodrich's partner.

Mrs. Goodrich laid down her hand and, rising, walked over to her friend. "It is time Muriel was showing up," she said. "I'm dummy. Let's walk down to the dock. We'll get a view around the point."

There was nothing to be seen around the point, however. Then, "Why, that isn't two boats coming in from the reef!" exclaimed Mrs. Goodrich. "It's one boat, towing another! And the person in the front boat—why, it's Muriel!"

Mrs. Goodrich's partner waited in considerable annoyance for that lady's return. But Frances, in sheer curiosity, had forgotten she was playing bridge as with Isobel she waited impatiently for Muriel's arrival and explanation.

Muriel greeted them cheerfully. "I'm melted into a grease spot!" she exclaimed. "So please take my news calmly and don't get me excited. Elaine has eloped with Bill, aided and abetted by me."

"Elaine has eloped!"

"With Bill!"

"Exactly, mother. Exactly, Aunt Frances. Been in the works some time. Elaine was to go out to the reef; Bill to run down in the launch; yours truly to go out and tow in the rowboat. I had to take a roundabout way so as not to arouse your suspicions and have you sending out after me or something equally silly. They'll be married in Bass Cove at six and come here directly for forgiveness."

"Oh, Muriel!" said Mrs. Goodrich reproachfully. "how could you!"

"My dear Aunt Frances," said Muriel, "I couldn't refuse dear old Bill. If—if he had asked me to elope with him myself, I should have done it!"

The blackfish fishermen came home at dusk, but, as many a woman remarked that night, the best catch that day wasn't made with a hook and line.

HOSMER LECTURES ON "PITFALLS OF HISTORY"

Poultney Bigelow has returned to Malden-on-Hudson for the rest of the winter. He spoke in New York before the Historical Society on "Pitfalls of History." The hall was crowded by a distinguished audience, which included the leading figures of Ulster county. Mr. Bigelow discussed various figures of times past whose identity has been clouded by legend or tradition—from Joan of Arc to Theodore Roosevelt. Among others he mentioned the mythical Barbara Fritchie and Stonewall Jackson; also the story of Jefferson Davis attempting to escape in woman's dress. Napoleon I was also treated, notably his many executions, as for instance the negro commander in chief of Hayti, Toussaint l'Ouverture.

Mrs. Bigelow was not able to accompany her husband because of health.

Come To Our Jubilee Sale

Twenty-five years of mammoth production on an economical basis, more than two decades of efficient service, a quarter of a century of progress and prosperity resulting from public confidence.

Such is the amazing record of the ten thousand Rexall Druggists who will commemorate one of the greatest achievements in the history of modern business in a nation-wide Silver Jubilee Sale to be held in cities, villages and hamlets in every State in the Union.

This Sale gives you an unprecedented opportunity to save money on both luxuries and necessities, and is made possible by the benefits which we derive from the purchasing, manufacturing and distributing powers of our Rexall partners in a world-wide business.

The goods are all of standard quality, such as are sold in large quantities at regular prices during other periods, but during the Silver Jubilee you can get this merchandise at prices so much lower than would otherwise be possible that you can solve one of your big problems, and that is to increase the buying power of the American Dollar.

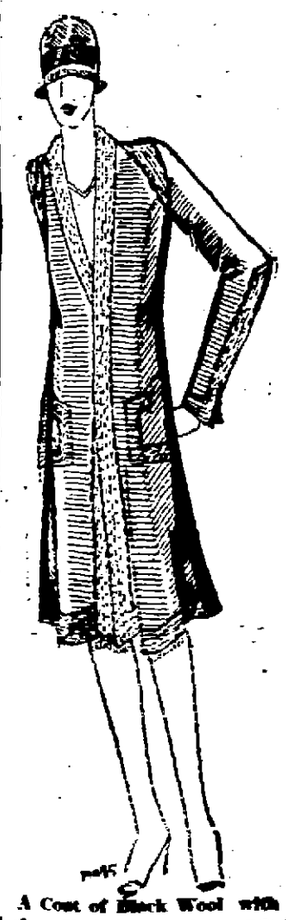
ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

CONSERVATIVELY DRESSED IN BLACK, THE CHIC PARISIENNE IS FREQUENTLY MORE SIMPLY CLAD THAN THE AVERAGE BUSINESS GIRL AT HOME

Paris—The girl who goes to business, should—but, unfortunately does not always—dress plainly. She might be more reconciled to what she considers her hard lot in life, in having to relinquish furbelows, if she could look in at a Paris restaurant at any lunch or tea hour.

The simplicity with which the idle rich who frequent these places dress is something of a revelation. Costumed by the best houses, wearing hats by world-famous milliners, they might, except for details of make-up, be in boarding-school garb. Black, black, black everywhere—dull black, shiny black, shiny and dull black together; black coat, hat, and dress, with creamy tan introduced on the coat in the wide luxurious lynx collars.

One has to have an eye for details to tell one model from another, and it is usually safest to identify them by the neckline. Even then, there is not much variation—perhaps a difference between the width and depth of the V, the occasional appearance of a square line, and the more than occasional presence of the rounded one. A bow here, a buckle there, a sparkling line made by a rhinestone necklace, or a dull one from a golden one.



A Coat of Black Wool with Collarless Neck Trimmed by Stitching, Which Also Outlines the Armholes, Sleeves, and Pockets. A Slight Flare Is Evident.

The shoulder flower has gone and so, strangely enough, has disappeared the coquettish little eye-veil that came and throve so suddenly that its sudden disappearance seems as much of a mystery as its sudden success.

Hats manage in the limitations set them to be extremely chic, little tricks in felt, almost invariably black, yet with something individualistic about them because of a cut or a twist of what is left of their brims.

Dame Fashion Smiles

By Grace Jewett Austin

"Did you know, Dame Fashion, that there are about as many new fashions for the babies as there are for the mothers?"

Grace J. Austin.

This was such a challenge that Dame Fashion had to take it up at once, and study these possibilities for the babies of 1928. The first revolutionary fact she learned was that it is now entirely possible to dress a little baby without using a single safety pin. Every sort of article which used to be pinned upon babies, since the time when Eva probably used thorns and wrapped up the points, are so arranged now that they may be tied on. This seemed to Dame Fashion one of the great happenings of the century.

Just the same thing has happened to Miss or Mr. Baby that has happened to girls and women the world over. Weight of clothes has been eliminated. If the debutante can go around declaring that only eight ounces of clothes are sufficient for her, with her pumps left off the scales, the baby can come trotting right after her. He may have some silk and wool garments quite near his skin but, after all, everything is of fairy lightness.

As for great long, long dresses—well, they are not there for the baby any more than they are for his mother. And what do you think—some of the prettiest have an uneven hemline! It certainly does seem as though some sort of dress psychology must come in, so that in many cases you can use the same phraseology for the bitsy baby or the year-old that you can for the grown woman.

Paris and London and America all unite in finding pretty things for Baby 1928. Such delightful dresses, cleverly embroidered with touches of color, come all the way from Hungary and are much less expensive than one would expect. "What is this material?" "Flat crepe." "And this one?" "Hand-embroidered voile." Now doesn't that sound like some grown-up young woman? And yet the dresses are beautiful for a baby-year-old.

Baby 1928 declares he wants to go outdoors—and go out a lot. There are all sorts of gloriously warm combinations, with hood and all together, into which he can be buttoned and be as tucked-up as any papoose. There are most adorable little sweaters, with angora trimmings or Russian blouse effects just like those of the big girls.

When you come to "accessories" for babies, the new things pile up quickly; a "feeding clock" that probably every baby hates, for it is supposed to be set ahead each time for the next hour when he will be scientifically hungry; a delightful carriage and high-chair strap, with pretty little pictured china squares, fired so no color could come off on a baby mouth, and in the center a higher china square that is a joyous rattle when the strap is shaken. Rubber goods are now warmly lined with turkish toweling.

That which entertained Dame Fashion most came out of a long slender box. It was named "So Big," like Edna Ferber's famous novel, and it was a clever arrangement of tall sliding pink boxes, with markings and place for records, to keep height measurements of the baby. "Pink," did you say? Here is a mother that uses only blue. Well, there is a blue one for her, but curiously enough, the shops tell Dame Fashion that their pink baby things sell much the faster. Yet no authority is absolutely sure whether pink is for a boy or a girl!

DAYTIME FASHIONS EMPHASIZE SWEATER ENSEMBLE COSTUMES

IF IT is a three-piece sports or street costume, then depend upon it, one of the three pieces is almost certain to be a slip-on sweater, for sweater ensembles are "the talk of the town" this season.

The smart thing about these modish sweater outfits is the fact of the sweater being so closely related to the skirt and coat or cape, if you will have it so, both in matter of coloring and design until the ensemble forms a perfect unit. For instance, many a tweed suit is accompanied by a knitted pullover, which repeats the tweed patterning of the cloth, as well as its exact colors.

It makes it all the more fascinating that the colors which appear in the sweater ensemble suits are delightfully autumn-like. Some have the warmth and glow of ruddy winter reds ranging from wine tones to scarlet, these interworked with neutral tones or metallic effects. All the new browns and various beige tones show forth at their best in these swagger knitted and cloth suits.

Speaking of the metallic note as introduced into sportswear, when used discreetly, it adds decided tone to the scheme. Sweaters in brown and beige and wine or dark green and especially dull rose shades which have threads of gold interworked are the "classy" thing today.

While this is very much of a tweed season, as far as the cloth part of the sports ensemble is concerned, it is also very much of a kasha season. These two outstanding materials, however, do not entirely usurp the field for homespun, flannel and velveteen, especially the latter, all play important roles in the world of sports fashions.

There is an interesting point about the sports costume which one of America's screen favorites, Norma Shearer, is wearing in this picture, and that is that it is collarless. This simple neckline is intentional on the part of the designer, as latest vogue calls for the collarless type so as to better accommodate a separate fur neck piece for scarfs of beige or silver or platinum or pointed fox are quite the rage with the winter cloth ensembles. The sweater accents wave stripes of warm rich tones against a beige background which accurately repeats the beige of the kasha which is employed for this skirt and coat.

When Children Complain

Children are naturally happy and playful and when they complain of headache or dizziness, are cross and feverish, restless at night, have bad dreams and no "pep" for play, it is a sure sign of an upset stomach that can be quickly remedied if you give them

MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS

They act quickly and gently on the bowels, relieve constipation, cleanse the stomach and sweeten the feverish breath. They break up colds and act as a tonic to the whole system. Children like to take them. This safe and pleasant remedy has been used by mothers for over 30 years. Mother Gray's Sweet Powders are sold by all druggists, accept no substitute.

PRE-LENTEN SOCIAL AT ST. PETER'S HALL

The annual pre-Lenten social and masquerade of St. Peter's Parish will be held in the school hall Monday, February 20, at 8 p. m. A grand march will feature the banner event of the year and prizes will be awarded for the prettiest and the most comical costume. Balfe's orchestra will furnish music for dancing. The ladies of the parish will serve refreshments throughout the evening. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend.

It is expected that a large number of parishioners of St. Peter's and their friends will attend the annual pre-Lenten masquerade as in "Fastnacht" seasons past. This season is observed in this appropriate manner by Christians who prepare to keep the Lenten season according to church rules. All are requested to attend the masquerade in costume and try for a prize. A good time is promised and it is planned to surpass the successful events of past years.

AT TEMPLE EMANUEL EVENING SERVICES

Rabbi Morris Rose will have as the topic for his sermon at Temple Emanuel this evening "Religion and Ethics." The sermon will be based on the portion of this week's reading of the Bible. Rabbi Rose will point out the relationship between the two branches of human expression and show how they are in reality inseparable.

Industrial League Games

The Artistics defeated the Central Hudson B team, 37-24, and the Central Hudson A quintet overcame the Hercules, 54-37, in a brace of Industrial League games at the Y. M. C. A. court Thursday night.

The Artistics built up a 24-19 lead over the Central B team in the first half of their tilt and held away throughout the second session which ended 37-24. Joe Quinn, of the losing aggregation led in scoring with 13 markers. E. Gildey, of the Artistics, did the best scoring for his team by collecting 10 points. Reuben and Perry trailed their teammates with nine and eight respectively.

The Central Hudson A team collected 29 markers in the opening session with the Hercules five, who found the basket for 16 points. In the second half the Hercules played better ball and managed to come within four of the 25 points scored by the Central A team in the session. Smith and Hoffman gleaned 22 and 21 points respectively for the winning team while Scott and Smith registered 14 and 12 in the order named for the Hercules.

WEAR CHAIRMAN OF DAVIS CUP COMMITTEE.

Philadelphia, Feb. 17 (AP).—The new chairman of the Davis cup committee and, as such, the director of America's international tennis strategy this year, is Joseph W. Wear of Philadelphia, a Yale man and all-around sportsman.

In selecting Mr. Wear for this important post in his new cabinet, Samuel M. Collom of Philadelphia, new president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, not only went outside the organization's "old guard" but picked a man who has held no previous office in the U. S. L. T. A.

The appointment came as somewhat of a surprise to many observers who had expected to see either Dick Williams or Charles Garland, former Davis cup team captains, selected for the position if it were to go to some one outside the so-called "old guard."

Mr. Wear succeeds Julian S. Myrick, of New York, who has headed the Davis cup committee since 1920, when "Big Bill" Tilden and "Little Bill" Johnston brought the famous trophy back from Australia, and engineered the American campaigns that were successful for seven straight years.

CHANDLERS GETTING READY FOR HEAVY SCHEDULE

The Chandler basketball team of this city is getting into shape for a tough battle with the Fleischmanns team at Arkville, Saturday night. The game will be the third of a series. Each team has a win to its credit at present. In the last game at Arkville the Chandlers were beaten by six points, while the Fleischmanns aggregation dropped a game to the local quintet at the Y. M. C. A. by a margin of three points.

Next Wednesday night the Schenectady Methodist team, champions in their division in that city, will meet the Chandlers at the local "Y". There will be no Sunday School League games at the "Y" that night on account of it being a holiday, Washington's Birthday. There will be no admission charged to see the Chandler-Methodist game.

Saturday night, February 25, the Chandlers will oppose the Catskill High School varsity at the local Y. M. C. A.

CANADA BEAT SWEDEN IN OLYMPIC HOCKEY EVENT.

St. Moritz, Feb. 17 (AP).—Canada beat Sweden 11 to 0 today in the semi-finals of the Olympic hockey championships. Sweden put up a stubborn defense but was unable to make any impression on the Canadian offensive.

The teamwork of the Canadians was regarded the best ever seen in Europe.

Dave Trottier, left wing, was the star of the Canadian team. He scored five of the goals.

Canada made four goals in the first period, four in the second and three in the final.

GIANTS LACK TWO OF THEIR BATTERYMEN.

New York, Feb. 17 (AP).—With Pitchers Larry Benton and Virgil Barnes on the lot at Hot Springs, Ark., training camp, the Giants today lacked only two of their batterymen, Vic Aldridge, who was acquired by New York from Pittsburgh in the deal for Burleigh Grimes, and Jess Doyle.

Barnes and Benton had brief workout yesterday. The squad now numbers eighteen.

Tunney to Resume Training.

New York, Feb. 17 (AP).—Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight champion, will depart for Miami Beach, Fla., tonight to resume training. Tunney expects to remain at Miami Beach until April when he will shift training quarters to his old camp at Speculator, N. Y.

Athletes Must Be In Good Humor

Philadelphia, Feb. 17 (AP).—The main problem of America's Olympic track and field campaign this year is not so much the selection or coaching of its team as it is a matter of keeping the star talent in proper physical and mental condition. Such is the opinion of Lawson Robertson, head coach of the American forces that will go into the battle of Amsterdam next July.

"It is a mistaken idea that our Olympic team needs a lot of coaching," said Robertson today. "What they need most of all is to be kept in a proper frame of mind and properly trained.

"Get the picture of our team, a selected group of stars from all parts of the country, picked by the most rigid tests. These men know their stuff. Most of them are seasoned club stars or college men well developed, champions and record holders.

"In the short time they are gathered together for the Olympic trip it would be ruinous to attempt to change their styles or teach them new methods of training. Nearly every man has some individual ideas about his conditioning or the way he should jump, run or hurdle. The coach's job is to keep them all in good humor and at the same time exercise sufficient discipline to keep them at top form between the tryouts and the actual Olympic competition."

It is for the best interests of team morale, as well as practical handling of the squad, that Robertson says he is opposed to the suggestion that Lloyd Hahn, Hal Osborn and others be sent to Amsterdam in advance of the main body of athletes to get the benefit of additional training abroad.

The theory of those supporting the suggestion is that our athletes have suffered in the past from lack of sufficient time to get rid of their sea legs.

Harm, rather than good might come of this, in the opinion of Robertson, who believes that week's interval between the time of the team's arrival in Amsterdam and the start of the Olympics will be sufficient to regain any edge lost on the trip overseas.

Dave Banks Is Shortest Player

Leads in Scoring in American Basketball League—Benny Borgeman, Another Little Player, Has Made Good.

New York, Feb. 17 (AP).—Height is important in basketball, but it isn't everything. The shortest player in the professional game is a leader in scoring in the American Basketball League while the tallest is far down the list.

Dave Banks, of the New York Celtics, five feet, three inches and the shortest, averaged more than eight points in comparison with 2 2-3 for Milas Shoun of the Chicago Bruins, the tallest, who is seven feet, two inches in height.

Banks, who weights but 125 pounds, rolled up his impressive average with a consistent total of 273 points in his first 34 games. The work of Shoun, a newcomer to the pro game, was watched closely when he joined the Chicago club in mid-season as he can virtually stand on tip toes and drop them through the ring. The best he could do in three games, however, was to score eight points, slightly less than Banks averaged in each of 34 games.

Dazzling speed and an unerring eye for the basket have enabled Banks to offset the tremendous advantage of his bigger antagonists. He is a hard man to stop as he tears down the floor, cutting swiftly around the knees of the bigger players, and when he shoots it is quite as effective as Shoun's method of dropping them in from above.

Another little player who follows the same system with almost the same success is Benny Borgeman, of the Cleveland Rosenblooms, who ranked only a little below Banks in third place in the league scoring. It appears to be court-craft and speed that counts, rather than height.

The littlest and biggest players came from markedly different schools of basketball, Banks gaining prominence with the Visitation quintet in South Philadelphia and Shoun at Carson-Newman College. Banks joined the Celtics in 1926.

REID AND JACKSON LOST IN NEW YORK

Stanley Reid, weight 135, of the 156th Field Artillery, Newburgh, put up the best bout of the evening at the 102nd Medical Regiment armory, New York city, Thursday night in the semi-final attraction which he lost to Howard Reddy, 139, 212th Anti-Aircraft, after eight rounds of milling. Reid displayed gameness which pleased the fans. Although knocked down several times during his encounter the Newburgher kept trying to close in on his rival to land a kayo wallop. Reid has furnished local fans with considerable action at the local armory on several occasions.

Ruby Jackson, 130, of the 22nd Engineers, lost to Corporal Phil Mosier, 258th Field Artillery, by a knockout in the first round on the same card. Jackson is to meet Joe Myers at the local armory on Friday, February 24. Myers, who is a local scrapper, expects to dispose of Jackson within six rounds in order to overcome the defeat registered over him by Tommy Gans here recently.

YOUNG SCHAEFER WINS OVER WELKER COCHRAN.

Chicago, Feb. 17 (AP).—Young Jake Schaefer, world's champion at 18.2 balkline billiards, wound up an eight game series last night as winner over Welker Cochran, former titleholder, 2,737 to 2,185, in a total of 44 innings. Cochran won three of the 400 point blocks and Schaefer five.

In the third block Schaefer ran 400 points, an entire block, for the third highest score ever made in a professional match.

Hudkins Battles Baker Tonight

New York, Feb. 17 (AP).—Ace Hudkins and Sammy Baker meet in a ten round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight to determine who shall be the challenger for the welterweight crown now guarded by Joe Dundee of Baltimore.

A flurry has been occasioned by reports that Hudkins was having difficulty in making the weight limit of 147 pounds. He has been quoted as a 2 to 1 favorite to win.

Baker, the soldier-boxer of Mitchel Field, concluded light training yesterday below the regulation poundage, tipping the beam at 146. On the other hand, Hudkins was said to weigh 148½ with a pound and a half of surplus to reduce before weighing-in at the New York State Athletic Commission's office today. The Wildcat said he would come down to 147 pounds without difficulty. Should he exceed that amount, however, it will mean that he cannot hope to figure in any challenger against Dundee but must shift his activities to the middleweights, in which realm Micky Walker is king.

Fordham Baseball Schedule.

New York, Feb. 17 (AP).—Army and Navy appear on the baseball schedule of Fordham announced today which lists a total of 26 games. Fordham resumes a thirty year old series with the cadets after a lapse of two years, journeying to West Point on May 19. The game with the Naval Academy takes Fordham to Annapolis on April 13.

SUPREME COURT: ULSTER COUNTY.—Zoltan Nyulassy, Plaintiff, against Victor Nyulassy and Jennie Nyulassy, his wife, the name "Jennie" being fictitious, and intended to represent his wife, if any, Anna Nyulassy, Joseph Nyulassy and Catherine Nyulassy, his wife, the name "Catherine" being fictitious, and intended to represent his wife, if any, Ferdinand Nyulassy and Rose Nyulassy, his wife, the name "Rose" being fictitious, and intended to represent his wife, if any, Mary Nyulassy, Frank Snyder, and Albert Ottinger, as Attorney General of the State of New York, Defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of partition and sale duly made and entered in the office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster in the above entitled action and bearing date the 31st day of December, 1927, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named will sell at public auction on the 20th day of February, 1928, at twelve o'clock noon on that day at the front door of the Ulster County Court House, in the City of Kingston, Ulster County, N. Y., the premises described by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

All that tract or parcel of land, situate in the Town of Ulster, County of Ulster and State of New York, bounded and described as follows:

First, House Lot, beginning at a point in southerly bounds of Titus Bridge Road, thence south along the bounds of swamp lot, thence east along lands belonging to George E. Smith, thence north along lands belonging to Isaac Bush to the Titus Bridge Road.

2d, Swamp Lot, beginning at southwest corner of garden of Joseph Webber, thence west along lands belonging to George F. Brown, George E. & A. H. & T. H. Smith, thence south along lands belonging to George F. Brown, George E. & A. H. & T. H. Smith, thence west along lands belonging to heirs of Marianna Ten Broeck Smith and Asenath Ten Broeck, thence north along lands belonging to the same heirs and Isaac Bush to place of beginning. Containing nineteen acres, be the same more or less, together with a dry road around said swamp lot to be used by both parties in common. Being the same property conveyed to convey by Marianna Ten Broeck Smith and Asenath Ten Broeck May 1st, 1885, and conveyed by Quit Claim deed by Theodore H. Smith, Julia M. Smith, Archibald H. Smith, George E. Smith and Alice Smith, his wife, John T. H. Smith and Mary E. Smith, his wife, on the twelfth day of April, 1897, and recorded in County Clerk's office Ulster Co., April 12th, 1897, at 10:20 o'clock A. M. in book 237 page 333, to which deed due reference is now made.

Also a tract or parcel of land, situate in said place, town and county aforesaid, bounded and described as follows: On the southwesterly side of Titus Bridge Road, beginning at a point on the southerly side of said road, distant sixty-five feet easterly from the corner formed by the intersection of the east line of the House Lot of Isaac Bush with the southerly line of said road, and from said point of beginning running westerly, north sixty degrees west along the southerly line of said road to said House Lot of said Isaac Bush, thence south sixteen degrees west along lines of said Bush four chains and ninety-six links to the rear of said lot of said Bush, thence south seventy-eight degrees east for a distance which will intersect a line drawn from the place of beginning parallel to the line of said Bush, and thence along said parallel to the place of beginning. Being the same property sold and conveyed to Isaac Bush by Hulda Saunders and Herbert Saunders, her husband, by deed March 10, 1906. This deed not to take effect during the life of Isaac Bush. After his death said Lena Bush to have full possession. Being the same premises conveyed by Isaac Bush to Lena Bush by deed bearing date the 28th day of October, 1907, and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in book of deeds No. 424 at page 60 on the first day of February, 1910.

SULLIVAN'S CAMPAIGN MADE YORKTOWN POSSIBLE.

The entire state will be made more acceptable in historic interest to tourists in 1929, and thereafter, when the educational department, at the request of the Legislature, directs the expenditure of the $100,000 asked by 19 counties to mark the route of Willett's, Clinton's and Sullivan's armies as they moved in 1779 to crush four tribes of the Iroquois.

The expansion of New England was dependent upon the extermination of these Indians.

The complete defeat of the British Armies could not be consummated until the League of the Iroquois had no warriors remaining. It took six years of the eight years' war to subjugate the Indian Allies of Great Britain, then Yorktown followed of necessity.

Sullivan's campaign destroyed the power of the Iroquois. It was directed by a New England general in the interest of the expansion of Massachusetts, who in 1786 acquired the right to acquire the Indian title to 6,000,000 acres of these Indian lands, and later took title to them.

The Mohawk Valley in April of 1779 carried Marinus Willett and 600 men through to Onondaga to utterly destroy the 12 villages at the ancient council fires at the very heart of the League, along with their owners, their cattle, crops and fruit trees. It was the first victory of the Sullivan Campaign. The annihilation of the Indians and their property was complete.

Willett, who led the expedition, was the same man who was second in command at Fort Stanwix in August, 1777, who won, on the same day with Herkimer, the first victories in defeating Burgoyne's Army.

The Mohawk Valley carried Clinton in August of 1779 from Schenectady to Canajoharie, with 1,500 men and 200 batteaux to cross on a newly cut military road to Otsego Lake to join Sullivan and his 3,500 men in the completion of the Indian subjugation. This is the story to become known to tourists.

Cady Lecture in Catskill.

The Rev. Dr. Putnam Cady, pastor of the Elmendorf Street Presbyterian Church, this city, will deliver an illustrated lecture in the chapel of the Presbyterian Church at Catskill Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, taking for his subject, "Iceland and the Midnight Sun." Mrs. Cady will sing some songs of Iceland. This lecture will be under the auspices of the Men's Club and will be in the nature of a church evening, to which the members of the congregation are invited.

News of the Day In Wall Street

New York, Feb. 17 (AP).—Soft wood lumber mills of the country had orders for 55,000,000 feet in the week ended February 11, 30 per cent larger than a year ago, the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association reports. Shipments and production increased in much the same proportion. Compared with the preceding week the volume of buying was about the same, with little or no change in production, but shipments fell off noticeably.

In contrast to loss of $155,698 in 1926, Century Ribbon Mills, Inc., earned $68,384 in 1927, equal to $4.42 a share on the 7 per cent preferred stock.

An order involving $3,000,000 had been placed with American Locomotive by the Union Pacific for 23 three cylinder engines and 15 extra tenders.

PREACHING SERVICE AT SOUTH RONDOUT CHURCH.

The Rev. George Benton Smith, D. D., superintendent of the Kingston district of the Methodist Church, preached a very excellent sermon in the South Rondout Church on Wednesday evening, February 15. Dr. Smith's sermon was full of originality as well as of sound doctrine. There was a good congregation present composed of members of the church and members of other denominations who reside in the village.

An atmosphere of expectancy was created by the announcement that Dr. Smith would, if possible, preach here on Sunday evening, March 18.

Before the preaching service the fourth quarterly conference was held and reports were given by the church treasurer, Mrs. Josephine Hotaling, and the treasurer of the Ladies' Aid Society, Mrs. Julia Mains, and the Sunday school superintendent, James Wesley, and the pastor, showing a healthy and prosperous condition in all the departments of church work. A memorial for a deceased brother, Edwin Marchant, was included in the pastor's report. He is greatly missed.

After the conference, Mr. Ardron was unanimously invited to return for another year. With Dr. Smith's approval and consent, this invitation was gladly accepted.

LEAGUE NET POOL PRICE IS $2.90 FOR JANUARY.

New York, Feb. 17.—A net pool price of $2.90 per 100 pounds for 3.5 milk was announced today by the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, Inc., as the basis upon which payment will be made to its members for January milk.

This price is 23 cents higher than the return received by the producers for their milk in January, 1927. In fact, say League officials, it is the highest January return in the history of the cooperative marketing organization.

The price is nine cents per 100 pounds below the December figure. This is due, League officials explain, to a drop of five cents on Class 1 milk January 1, and a substantial increase in production which necessitated the disposal of larger percentages in the low priced surplus classes. However, this seasonal December-January sag is not so great as it has been in previous years.

Battlefield Cut Up to Republicans

Governor Places Full Responsibility For Success or Failure of Saratoga Battlefield Appropriation Upon G. O. P. Legislature.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 17 (AP).—Governor Smith indicated today that he decided to place full responsibility for success or failure of the Saratoga battlefield appropriation upon the Republican Legislature, and that he was through fighting for an increase in the appropriation.

"I'll let the Republicans fight the thing out among themselves," he said. "The advisory commission which recommended the original appropriation of $150,000 for the battlefield, was overwhelmingly Republican, the men who cut it to $90,000 were Republicans. It's a little family quarrel now, and I don't see why I should take any further part in it."

The Governor said that he had addressed former Mayor George O. Stingerland of Mechanicsville yesterday to confer with Chairman Eberly Hutchinson, of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, in an attempt to bring about an increase in the appropriation.

Characterizing the controversy over the battlefield cut as a "second battle of Saratoga", Assemblyman Burton D. Esmond, Republican, Saratoga, champion of the $190,000 appropriation figure in the Legislature, in a statement today promised additional fireworks next week in an effort to have the original figure restored.

ATTACK SHIPSTEAD ANTI-INJUNCTION BILL

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP).—Opponents of the Shipstead anti-injunction bill made a surprise frontal attack on the measure before the Senate judiciary committee today, contending that Congress lacked constitutional authority to enact such a law.

Alfred P. Thom, general counsel for the Association of Railway Executives, led the drive. In a prepared brief he asserted that the determination of what property is under the fifth amendment to the constitution is a judicial, not a legislative question. That being true, he added, the effort of the Shipstead bill to restrict use of injunctions to "tangible and transferable" property was a legislative attempt to destroy an essential part of the co-ordinate judicial power visualized by the Constitution.

The railway lawyer's contention precipitated a three cornered argument in which Chairman Norris and Senator Walsh of Montana, took part.

Thom read a list of more than 30 classifications of federal court jurisdictions which he said would be repealed under the bill.

DECIPHERS ANCIENT ETRUSCAN LANGUAGE.

Bologna, Italy, Feb. 17 (AP).—Prof. Alfredo Trombetti, of the University of Bologna, today announced that he has succeeded in deciphering the ancient Etruscan language which until now has baffled scholars.

Trombetti, who is widely known for his work in philology, is conversant with nearly thirty languages.

Success in deciphering the Etruscan language will open a great field of historical research which has been closed for centuries and will throw light upon earliest Italy.

Etruria, now known as Tuscany, contained a federation of twelve cities which developed as a great naval power influential in northern and central Italy long before the first century, A. D. Etruscan kings ruled at an early time in Rome, probably until about 500 B. C. The Etruscans finally were defeated by the Romans in 283 B. C.

The authentic history of Etruria is very meagre and efforts to learn more of its life have been largely fruitless because of difficulty in deciphering the Etrurian language.

MASQUERADE BALL OF UPTOWN JEWISH CENTER

The second annual masquerade ball of the Uptown Jewish Center held Thursday evening at Knights of Columbus Hall was largely attended. There were many maskers and the costumes were in variety, a number of fancy style, others representing characters in cartoons and several very comical ones. By reason of the diversity the judges had difficulty in agreeing as to who were prize winners. Maisenhelder's orchestra pleased with a program of latest dance numbers. After the unmasking at 11 o'clock prizes were awarded as follows: First prize to Joseph Kirschner, who represented Jiggs; second, Mr. and Mrs. B. Rhymer; third to Abel Abromovitz; fourth, Mrs. Sam Goldfarb and Mrs. I. Shattan; fifth, Mrs. Donnelly. Ben Silverman was master of ceremonies.

LIMIT IMPORTATION OF AMERICAN FILMS.

Paris, Feb. 17 (AP).—Importation from America of "big time" motion pictures is to be limited to nine times the amount of similar French films exported to the United States under a decree, which it was learned from reliable sources today, Minister of Public Instruction Herriot will submit to the cabinet tomorrow.

The decree applies to all countries but concerns America particularly as the dominating producer. It is intended thereby to encourage French production and the ratio will be revised annually.

Comic films, news and other secondary reels will not be affected.

LEAPS FROM WINDOW OF BILTMORE HOTEL

Los Angeles, Feb. 17 (AP).—Mrs. Margaret K. Levis, wife of Harry H. Levis, said to be a wealthy New York diamond and jewelry merchant, committed suicide early today by leaping from a sixth floor window of the Biltmore Hotel here.

Mrs. Levis, who was declared by her husband to have been despondent over ill-health, left her bed about 2 a. m., walked to a window and jumped before Levis could prevent her, he said.

Mrs. Levis was found on the sidewalk and rushed to a hospital where she died.

A note was left asking Levis to take care of Mrs. Levis's mother.

HOLDS THIRTEEN SPADES DIDN'T KNOW WHAT TO BID

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—A. T. Moran, an Erie railroad auditor, playing bridge in the club car of a Detroit to Washington train last night, held thirteen spades and didn't know what to bid. Twenty other bridge fans on the same car dropped their cards and tried to tell him.

The bridge special immediately was thrown into a furore and peace settled down only after Moran, ignoring the advice of his envious but unwelcome guests, bid four spades and cleaned the board.

BONITA TAKEN PRISONER BY STATE TROOPERS

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Feb. 17 (AP).—Sam Bonita, charged with killing Frank Agatti, mine union organizer, to District President Rinaldo Cappellini's office here, was taken prisoner today by state police in Pittston.

Bonita was captured while entering the office of his attorney, Frank Flannery, by three troopers who were advised that he was ready to give himself up.

The prisoner was brought to the district attorney's office here and given a preliminary examination.

MAJOR SUMMERALL OUTLINES HOUSING NEEDS OF ARMY.

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP).—Major General Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff, outlined the housing needs of the army today in testifying before the House Military Affairs Committee on the James bill which would appropriate $12,664,950 for carrying on army housing projects not already provided for.

During the last congress $20,297,000 was authorized for army housing, of which $13,308,000 has been appropriated and the remainder was carried in the war department appropriation bill which passed the house February 10.

BRAVE MEN BUT THEY DISOBEYED ORDERS

Chief Noll of the Poughkeepsie Fire Department made it known Thursday that the firemen who entered the Robert-Boice paper plant while it was a mass of flames Tuesday, did so voluntarily and in disobedience of orders issued by him and their company captains. In order to check up the chief interrogated Clarence Close, in St. Francis Hospital since the fire, and the man, who is a lieutenant in Lady Washington Hose Company, said he and Robert Fogg, killed, Allen Lutz and John Fogg, both injured, entered the building after being ordered to stay out by the company captain and Chief Noll.

"Brave men, all of them," said Chief Noll. "Yet they had been warned like all others to stay out of the burning building. They tried to do too much. Because they meant well, there can be no criticism."

Collapse of the third floor flung the four men into the burning debris three floors below. Nearly three hours of rescue work were required to dig out the entombed men. Fogg died in Vassar hospital a few minutes after he was taken there. The other three men were seriously injured.

ASK CLEMENCY FOR DORIS PALMER MC DONALD

Montreal, Feb. 17 (AP).—Lord Willingdon, governor-general of Canada, will be asked to intercede in behalf of Doris Palmer McDonald, who is in jail here under sentence of death with her husband, George McDonald, it was learned here today.

It is understood that those interested in the case will ask Viscount Willingdon to commute the sentence of death to life imprisonment. The grounds upon which clemency is to be asked were not made known.

Appellants working for the reprieve of the 21 year old New York actress, who was found guilty in connection with the slaying of a taxi driver, Adelard Bouchard, last July on the Huntingdon-Malone highway, left for Ottawa today to present their case. A point in their favor is that the trial jury brought in the verdict against the woman with a recommendation for mercy.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 17 (AP).—Speculative sentiment in today's stock market was distinctly bearish. Pools endeavored to mark up a few issues in the early trading on publication of unusually favorable 1927 earnings by the General Motors Corporation and the Pennsylvania Railroad and the drop in brokers' loans, but they encountered large offerings on the rallies. Lowering of the call money rate from 4½ to 4¼ per cent also inspired a rally around midday but it was short lived.

There was nothing in the day's news to influence the general selling movement, which appeared to be based on the belief that the market was overbought, and that a reaction was warranted on technical grounds. Several commission houses suggested that the widespread and unfavorable publicity given to brokers' loans necessitated a sharp reduction in that item before another major advance was possible. Uneasiness over the recent increase in unemployment was offset by the increase in building permits and the improvement in the steel industry.

Metal shares which have been widely exploited on the strength of new processes and ore discoveries, were among the hardest hit. Midland Steel Products preferred broke nearly 8 points. Greene Cananea Copper and Calumet and Arizona fell 7 points each, and Mullins Body, Manati Sugar, National Biscuit, case Threshing Machine, Brooklyn Edison and Transue and Williams sold 4 to 5 points below yesterday's final quotations.

Special selling of the rubbers was inspired by reports of large inventory losses while the oils ground as a result of the recent cut in Smackover crude prices and unfavorable dividend rumors.

Quotations given by Parker McElroy & Co., members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 120 Broadway, New York city, branch office, 260 Fair street.

Lets Burglar Go To Save Husband

New York, Feb. 17 (AP).—Mrs. Simon Hirdansky, wife of the principal of a public school in the Bronx, today compromised with an armed burglar in her home and permitted him to escape on the promise that he would put away a knife with which she feared he would murder her husband.

Hirdansky and the burglar were grappling in the bedroom of the Hirdansky apartment. The intruder's knife was coming dangerously near her husband's throat, Mrs. Hirdansky said, and she tore the men apart to offer her terms of armistice.

"If you stop using that knife, we'll let you go," she said.

"All right, let me go," was the reply, and he jumped out of a window.

The burglar took with him $50 in cash, some jewelry and clothing.

DISCUSS DISTRIBUTION OF PRISON-MADE GOODS.

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP).—Opponents of the Hawes and Cooper bills to regulate distribution of prison-made goods had an inning today before Senate and House committees.

The value of prison industries in reforming criminals and keeping convicts contented together with preventing them from rioting and making bids for escape, was stressed before the house labor committee by state officials of Idaho and Vermont.

Before the senate Interstate Commerce Committee, Levin J. Chase, secretary of the board of trustees of New Hampshire state prison, said the Hawes bill was an "entering wedge to destroy prison labor."

The measures would ban prison made goods from interstate commerce unless they were labelled as convict made products where required under state laws.

CHILD ASKS DAVIS FOR TEN BATTLESHIPS.

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP).—Secretary of War Davis, who every now and then receives a letter asking for a pup or a baby, got one today which exemplified the martial spirit of young America.

"Dear Uncle Sam: Please send me ten battleships and one destroyer," read the letter in a child's handwriting. It was postmarked Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

Local Death Record

Elizabeth, widow of Edward Senor, died today in this city. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

The funeral of Elizabeth Woods, wife of Arthur H. Crosby, was held Thursday at 2:30 p. m., at her residence, 140 Downs street. The Rev. Dr. Putnam Cady, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, of which Mrs. Crosby was a member, officiated. Many beautiful floral offerings attested to the high esteem in which the deceased was held. Interment was in Wiltwyck cemetery.

Mrs. Melissa Bruhdage, widow of Eli D. Brundage, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Dice in Liberty on February 13, aged 85 years. She is survived by the following children: Daniel P., of Liberty, Preston, W., of Kerhonkson, Thurston C., of Liberty, Claude, of New Paltz, Frank, of Arlington, N. J., Earl, of Ashokan, Mrs. Dice, of Liberty, and Mrs. Eva Lambert, of Neversink.

Catherine Mulligan Easman, widow of William Easman of Napanoch, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Richard E. Hayden, at Kerhonkson on February 13, aged 79 years. Funeral services were held Thursday with interment at Ellenville. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Hayden; a stepdaughter, Miss Sarah A. Easman, of Middletown; a stepson, Frederick J. Easman, of Kerhonkson; and a brother, E. H. Mulligan, of Corning.

The funeral of John J. Redican, well known retired boatman, who died on Tuesday, was held from the late home today at 9:30 a. m., thence to St. Joseph's Church where at 10 o'clock a solemn Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. Louis Cusack as celebrant, the Rev. Edwin Burke, deacon, and the Rev. Father Tobin of Mt. St. Alphonsus as sub-deacon. There were a large number of his former friends and neighbors from Brooklyn, his former home, at the funeral. Six life long friends and fellow boatman, Frank Killian, John Egan, John Maher, Patrick Carey, John Ward and Richard Donnelly, acted as casket bearers. Many beautiful floral tributes from sorrowing relatives and friends surrounded the hermetically sealed bronze casket as the body reposed in the family home. St. Joseph's choir sang "Jesus, Come to Me," at the conclusion of the Mass. The Rev. Edwin Burke accompanied the large funeral cortege to St. Mary's cemetery and pronounced the final absolution as the casket incased in a steel vault was lowered to its final resting place in the family plot.

STORY OF SORCERY UPSETS PLACID LIFE OF NAPLES

Gossips Declare Mysterious Cure Was Used by Sexton to End Girl's Sufferings.

Rome.—The placid life of Naples has been upset for some time by a particularly gruesome case of sorcery which has just taken place at Monticelli, not far from Naples.

In the little town of Monticelli, a woman named Annunziatta Scognamiglio, had for a long time tried all means known to medical science to cure her niece, a little girl named Garzolino, who was suffering from arthritism, and whose sufferings were intense.

One day, gossiping with neighbors, Signora Scognamiglio learned that Salvatore Tasti, sexton of the cemetery, had an infallible nostrum against all ills.

"He's a bit of a sorcerer," the neighbors said, "but his secrets are exceptionally efficacious."

Fear of sorcery was not sufficient to prevent Signora Scognamiglio from trying to end the sufferings of her niece. Accompanied by her sister, she took the child to see the graveyard keeper. Tasti understood what was wanted immediately.

"Follow me," he said simply.

All three went into the cemetery with their guide, who took them to a bier where reposed the body of a child named Andreetti, who had just recently died.

The sexton raised the cover of the bier and then taking the child Garzolino in his arms, he touched her body to that of the deceased infant, pronouncing all the while in a solemn voice various formulas of incantation.

When the rite was finished, Signora Scognamiglio gave $50 to the sorcerer.

Then, by some strange hazard of circumstances, it happened that the little girl shortly afterward recovered completely.

Bricklayer, Aged 84, Is on Job With "Boys"

Rushville, Ill.—All unmindful of the displeasures he is causing the gentleman with the hour glass and scythe, Robert Rippetoe, a Civil war veteran and veteran bricklayer as well, celebrated his eighty-fourth birthday by starting to work with the rest of the boys on the addition being built to the Presbyterian church here.

Sixty years of experience has given him uncanny skill as a brick mason.

"I am not happy unless I keep at my work," he said. "Moreover, it doesn't look as though I could retire if I wished. There doesn't seem to be any young brick masons taking up the trade here, and the jobs must be done," he philosophized.

Six months after taking up bricklaying, he responded to President Lincoln's call for volunteers and served with Troop B, Seventh Missouri cavalry, for four years and twenty-eight days.

On his return he resumed his trade and is still at it. There were only two brick buildings in Rushville then and he claims to have worked on virtually all that have since been constructed.

Rippetoe keeps a record of his daily work and is often called on to verify construction dates.

Famed Hunter Off to Seek "White Rhino"

Los Angeles, Calif.—George Bistany, rated among the mightiest of living nimrods, because in the last 20 years he has traversed 500,000 miles of desert and jungle to capture 8,000 species of rare animals and birds, was among the 800 travelers arriving aboard the liner Belgenland.

Mr. Bistany this time is en route to the African Sudan, there to search for the giant white rhinoceros, heretofore never captured alive. The quest also will be for the great African bustard, the secretary bird, whose food is poisonous snakes, and the giant forest wart hog, all native of the Sudan jungles.

In his adventures, Mr. Bistany has been injured by wild beasts 27 times.

The naturalist has captured the wild ass from the Nubian desert, shoe bill stork from the Sudan, the Kamerоon gorilla, paradise birds from Dutch New Guinea, the Sudan ibex, African hartebeestes, the snow leopard from India and 1,400 monkeys from Sudan.

Girl's $12.57 Costume Wins Clothing Contest

Durham, N. H.—Miss Ethel Reed of Unity was named winner of the annual state clothing contest for members of New Hampshire 4-H clothing clubs. In a year she made 60 articles of clothing.

Her costume, which won the prize in the contest, against 28 others, included a tan wool and rayon one-piece dress, costing $4.54; a hat to match which she made at a cost of 40 cents; blonde kid pumps, costing $4, and silk stockings to match. The cost of the entire costume, including articles not made by herself, was $12.57.

Besides being an expert with needle and thread, Miss Reed, who is a freshman at the University of New Hampshire, during the summer loaded forty racks of hay, did the family washing on Mondays and prepared the suppers for the family. Besides painting the porch and the well house on her parents' farm. She is helping earn her way through college by sewing.

Allow Deductions To Car Owners

Deductions From Gross Earnings Allowed in Returns of Income Taxpayers on Account of Automobile Ownership and Operation Outlined by Bulletin Issued by A. A. A.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 17.—Deductions from the gross income allowed car owners under the regulations of the Bureau of Internal Revenue on account of automobile ownership and operation were outlined in a statement broadcast by the American Automobile Association today.

First, the car owner may deduct from his gross income all sums paid during the calendar year in the form of registration fees, drivers' licenses, state personal property taxes and municipal taxes.

Second, the gasoline tax may be deducted in all cases where it is a "consumers' tax" under the state law, but not where it is specifically enacted as a "distributors' tax."

Third, the interest on money borrowed for the purchase of an automobile is deductible, irrespective of whether the car is used for business purposes or for pleasure. If the taxpayer keeps his accounts on a cash basis such interest will be deductible only for the year in which paid. If accounts are kept on an accrual basis, interest may be deducted as it accrues.

Fourth, if a passenger car is used wholly for business purposes, all expenses incident to maintenance, including depreciation at the rate of 20 per cent per annum, may be deducted. Where the car is used "chiefly," or more than 50 per cent for business and incidentally for pleasure, the expense may be deducted on a pro rata basis.

Fifth, loss sustained by reason of damage to a passenger automobile while being used for pleasure is deductible under a recent decision handed down by the Board of Tax Appeals. The loss, however, must be an actual loss to the person claiming the deduction. In other words, if it is compensated for by insurance or otherwise, it is not deductible.

Sixth, the Bureau has ruled that where a motorist paid damages for injury to a pedestrian, such amount is deductible, provided at the time the injury occurred the car was being used for business. It has never been called upon, however, to determine whether a fine paid by a motorist might be deducted as a business expense, where, at the time the expense was incurred, the car was being used for business or professional purposes.

Can't Deduct Cost of Car.

The A. A. A. points out that in no case is the amount paid for an automobile allowed as a deduction for expense, regardless of whether it is used entirely for business. In the case of purchase by a farmer for strictly farm use, only the expense incident to operation is deductible, just as in the case of any other business or professional use.

"How can a motorist determine whether or not he is entitled to the advantages set forth in the clause dealing with deduction of maintenance costs for cars used wholly for business? On this point the national governing body says:

"When a passenger automobile is used primarily for professional or business purposes, and incidentally for pleasure, ordinary expenditures for maintenance and repairs may be prorated according to use, and deducted, provided the car is used 'chiefly' in the pursuit of a business or profession. 'Chiefly' is interpreted by the bureau to mean more than fifty per cent. If business constitutes a minor usage and pleasure the major part, the expense can not be prorated or deducted. If the chief use is for business, the items of depreciation, gasoline, oil, repairs, chauffeur's salary, garage rent, as well as any other legitimate expenses, may be prorated according to the usage and the portion applicable to business purposes deducted."

The A. A. A. statement continues: "Contrary to general belief, the federal war excise tax of three per cent on the wholesale value of new cars is not deductible. The regulations of the bureau provide that taxes imposed upon sales of automobiles by the manufacturers are not deductible by the individual purchaser, even though such taxes are billed to him.

"The bureau has heretofore recognized no gain or loss when automobiles used for either business or pleasure are traded in on new cars. This point is now in the hands of the General Counsel of the Bureau of Internal Revenue for an interpretation."

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, Feb. 17.—I. C. Barnes spent last Monday in Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. Horace Elliott celebrated her birthday last Friday by spending the day with her daughter, Mrs. Mount at Clintondale.

Reports from City of Kingston Hospital daily are that Eddie LeFevre, Jr., shows no improvement.

The funeral of Jonas D. B. Deyo was held January 29 at the Reformed Church in Tillson. Mr. Deyo was born in Springtown, a son of the late Jesse Deyo. He attended the New Paltz Normal and for the past nine years had lived in New York. He is survived by his wife, two brothers, William and Peter, of Tillson, two daughters, Mrs. Jessie Rosell and Ada M., and one grandchild, Halcea M. Rosell. Interment was in Rosendale Plains cemetery at Tillson.

A class for young people, who will join the Reformed Church at Easter, began on February 10 in the parsonage.

Mrs. Jerry Schoonmaker is spending some time at the home of her son, William Upright, at Clintondale.

Because of the very poor attendance at chapel in the Normal a new system of programs has been introduced this semester. This system is under the direction of Mr. Matteson and a committee appointed by Dr. Lawrence H. Vanden Berg, principal, and representatives from the student council. It was decided to make the school clubs responsible for the programs for chapel and a chart made out designating the exact date for the appearance for each organization. Where there are vacancies members of the faculty have been asked to contribute, by giving a short talk on their interesting experiences. Last week the Senior Literary Club was in charge and gave a most interesting Russian play entitled "The Bore". The past Tuesday Dr. Vanden Berg talked on the assembly on the subject of a code of ethics for teachers. Dr. Vanden Berg is one of the members of the state committee drawing up such a code to be established in all the New York state training schools for teachers.

Miss Childs of Wurts avenue has not been very well of late.

Those attending the W. C. T. U. meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Corwin were the president, Mrs. Luther Terwilliger, Mrs. Thomas Krom, Mrs. Abel Quick, Mrs. R. E. DuBois, Mrs. Webb Kniffen, Mrs. Betz, Mrs. Gerow, Mrs. William Fuller, Mrs. Ida Stephens, Miss Eltinge, Mrs. Mary Jenkins, Mrs. Osterhoudt and Mrs. Corwin and visitors, Mrs. Fletcher, Miss Johnston and Mrs. Osterhoudt.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Kelly entertained callers at their home on South Chestnut street Wednesday evening.

Daniel Hasbrouck, who has been ill, is able to be out again.

Mrs. Thomas Krom spent Wednesday afternoon and night in Kingston.

Ephraim DuBois was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. David Kiefer at Lake Katrine on Sunday.

The March meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of Mrs. Lorin Conners on Church street.

Mrs. George Grimm has been confined to her home for some time with a cold.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ingham and family visited Mrs. Ingham's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt Van Kleeck, near Perrine's Bridge recently.

The Sullivan-Shafer Post, No. 176, American Legion, has been informed that complaints have been received at New York State Legion headquarters that house to house canvassers are selling magazines which they claim are sponsored by the American Legion and that a certain percentage will be turned over to them. The American Legion sponsors absolutely no books or magazines with the exception of the "Official Source Records" which is a set of books consisting of seven volumes.

Clintondale Fruit Growers are planning to build an addition to the cold storage plant. The cost of the new structure complete will approximate $100,000 which will be borne by a bond issue of seven per cent first mortgage bonds, a good portion of which have been already subscribed by members of the association. Construction will start in the spring and the completed plant will be in operation by September 1, 1928.

LARGE AUDIENCE SEES "OLD FASHIONED MOTHER"

"An Old Fashioned Mother," presented by a cast composed of members of societies of St. Mary's Church in the school hall Thursday night, was well received by a large audience. The play will be staged again tonight and Sunday afternoon for the school children. Tonight's performance will start at 8 p. m. There will be dancing after the performance. Refreshments will be served.

From the rising curtain to the finale Thursday night the large audience that filled St. Mary's Hall never lost interest in "An Old Fashioned Mother," owing to the way in which the characters were portrayed. Mrs. John Herrick, who played the leading feminine role, "Zeke" Ross, who starred as the hero, and "Buddy" Dugan, portrayer of a character part calling for a goodly amount of comedy, proved very capable in their respective roles. The two men also pleased with specialty numbers between the acts.

The village choir was the cause of much laughter. This group of ladies was composed of Mrs. Mary Healey, director; Mrs. M. Norton, accompanist; Mrs. E. R. Arnold, Mrs. A. Everett, Mrs. T. Coughlin, Mrs. P. J. Fogarty and Miss Mary McNamara.

Seventeen thousand bill boards in all parts of the United States will carry the above poster during the month of February. The purpose of the poster display is to call to the attention of the American public in a vivid way the real spirit of the American Legion, that of service to America in peace as in war.

Eight of such bill-board posters are now up in Kingston and will remain during the month of February at the following locations: Prince street and Jansen avenue, Albany avenue Extension, West Shore Railroad Station, Abeel street near Fischer's Hotel, Wilbur avenue viaduct, lower Hasbrouck avenue, Washington avenue and North Front street, and Washington avenue. Space for these posters was contributed through the courtesy of the Kingston Poster Advertising Company, of which John C. Shults, of Saugerties, is proprietor. The posting was done through the courtesy of Fred Houseman, of this city, local manager of the company.

The poster is the work of Chester C. Bratten, a well-known artist of Chicago. It depicts the ideals of the Legion in a symbolic way. In the background is the Goddess of Liberty with upstretched arms in a position of consecrating the sacrifices made by the fighting men in the World War. In the foreground is a panoramic scene representing city, agriculture and industry, symbolizing the peace-time occupations of those who were formerly occupied with war.

These posters in Kingston are expected, also, to bring to the minds of World War veterans who do not belong to the American Legion that, as war veterans, it is their duty to join the American Legion if they want to discharge their full peace-time duty as citizens of the United States.

LOCAL GRADUATION FROM STATE POLICE SCHOOL.

More than 130 men received their diplomas Thursday night from the New York State School for Police at Troy after six weeks of training in all lines of police work.

The graduation exercises and dinner were conducted in the Hendrick Hudson hotel, with Major John A. Warner, state police, presiding. The graduation address was given by W. Leland Thompson of Troy, a regent of the University of New York. The diplomas were presented by Robert Moses, secretary of state, and scholarship awards by Colonel R. E. O'Connor, superintendent of state police of West Virginia.

Trooper P. J. Jolly of K troop, White Plains, was named as honor man of his class and was presented an award for the highest scholarship. Second scholarship prize was awarded Trooper William B. Nagle, C troop, Sidney, and third prize to Trooper C. S. Haviland, Jr., K troop, White Plains.

The marksmanship prize was awarded Trooper A. S. Tracey, G troop, and he was presented a revolver by J. Henry Fitzgerald of the Colt Firearms company, and an instructor of the school.

The basketball team of D troop, Oneida, was awarded the basketball championship and given prizes of a basketball and silver cup.

Trooper Jolly was presented a wrist watch as a donation to the honor man of the class by the Adels Jewelry company of Troy.

Trooper Raymond C. Adams, president of the class, presented class gifts to Captain A. B. Moore, dean of the school; Major Allen J. Smith, Troopers E. K. Miller, J. H. Fitzgerald, James J. Fitzpatrick, New York police inspector, and Sergeant George M. Searle, executive officer of the school and members of the faculty.

Among the graduates were E. J. Holohean of this city and A. A. Reilly of Creek Locks. A number of members of Troop C, State Troopers, at Sidney were in the class. In fact "C" Troop, which is headquarters for State Troopers stationed in this county, sent more men to the school this year than ever before.

CLASS DAY AND BANQUET OF COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS

The annual class day and banquet of Kingston Council, No. 356, United Commercial Travelers of America, will be held Friday, February 24, when in the afternoon a large class of candidates will be initiated at Pythian Hall. A banquet will follow at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

A pleasing program has been arranged for the event, when the largest gathering of Commercial Travelers since 1916 will gather in Kingston. Zucca's orchestra will furnish music for dancing, which will conclude the event. Those who wish to attend the dinner at the Governor Clinton Hotel are requested to notify the secretary not later than Monday, February 20.

The class day and banquet will be attended by several state and national officers. Charles A. Hibbard, supreme auditor, of Columbus, Ohio, will be one of the officers in attendance. Others will be Thomas Nicholson, grand counselor of New York state, of Rochester; George H. Merikle, New York state grand junior counselor, of Brooklyn; A. L. Newing, grand conductor, of Binghamton, and George L. Fisher, grand sentinel, of Utica. Delegations from Albany and Newburgh councils will also be present.

May Lose $24,000,000

Doris Duke, 15-year-old daughter of the late James B. Duke, tobacco king, may have $8,000,000 sliced off her fortune because a Newark, N. J., court has awarded that sum to George D. Haskell, Boston engineer, in a suit against the estate. Doris, the richest girl in the world, may even lose $24,000,000 if Haskell succeeds in getting triple damages. However, she'll still have enough to get by on, as her total fortune is $160,000,000.

THE STEINWAY PIANO Appeals Unerringly To People Who Buy With Care

The consideration of the shrewd buyer is given not so much to price, as to value received. He looks beyond the first cost into the question of upkeep, permanence, performance and pride of ownership. His thrift is tampered with imagination.

When such a buyer wishes to purchase a Piano, he turns quite naturally to the STEINWAY. For in the lifetime of perfect service given by this great instrument he finds that true economy which lies in the best and finest things.

We are showing Steinway Pianos in both Upright and Grands.
